The Panther Mascot

The Panther (felis concolor) was adopted as the University of Pittsburgh's mascot at a meeting of student and alumni leaders in the early autumn of 1909. According to George M. P. Baird, '09, who made the suggestion, it was chosen for the following reasons: (1) the Panther was the most formidable creature once indigenous to the Pittsburgh region; (2) it had ancient, heraldic standing as a noble animal; (3) the happy accident of alliteration; (4) the close approximation of its hue to the old gold of the University's colors (old gold and blue), hence its easy adaptability in decoration; and (5) the fact that no other college or university then employed it as a symbol.

1981 Outlook: A New Era

Gone are the Lombardi Award winner, the Outland Trophy winner, the Heisman runner-up, four All-Americans, 27 lettermen and 15 starters from last season's National runners-up. Gone, in fact, are the very heart and soul of the last four years of Pitt Panther teams that have gone 39-8-1 and been to four straight bowl games.

On paper, at least, it would be enough to make your average coach cry, "Rebuilding Year." But Jackie Sherrill isn't your average football coach, so don't expect to hear him crying the blues. Oh, to be sure, he's not predicting another run at the National Championship and you won't hear him talking about unbeaten seasons, either.

But neither will you hear him spreading gloom and doom for his 1981 Pitt Panthers. Football pundits aren't either, for many of them have again tabbed the Panthers to be one of the better teams in college football—this despite the fact that no less than 19 seniors were lost to pro training camps via the draft and free agency. And such expectations are justified according to Sherrill.

"I think people are looking at what we've accomplished in the last five years (tied with Oklahoma, 51-8-1, for the second best record in college football over that span), the caliber of player we've produced consistently over that time, and have seen a very successful program that can sustain itself like those at the Alabamas, Southern Cals, and Oklahomas," surmises Sherrill.

"Certainly we're going to have a lot of new faces and question marks this year, but that's what college football is all about. We can't lose the players we've lost and say we're going to do the same as last year's team. But we do have many fine young athletes at Pitt who so far haven't had much chance to show what they can do. I'm confident we're going to have some young people come to the front. It's like starting over again, but I'm excited and looking forward to it."

It's a bit of déjà vu for the four-year head mentor. In his first year as head coach at Pitt in 1977, Sherrill faced the prospects of rebuilding a defending National Championship team that had lost a bevy of seniors, including one of the greatest runners in college football history in Tony Dorsett. Skeptics of the Panther program proclaimed 1976 the end of this football fantasy. But Sherrill's troops rallied and came back strong in 1977, winning nine games and finishing #6 in the country. Yes, that year—just as much as any other—had shown that Pitt football had arrived.

The biggest challenge facing Sherrill this Fall will be putting together a defensive unit that lost 9½ starters from last year's team which ranked #1 in the country. Gone from that unit is Hugh Green, perhaps the finest lineman ever to play for Pitt, plus a host of starters who simply intimidated and devastated opponents.

Only linebacker Sal Sunseri (6-0, 220) and part-time starter, Tom Flynn (6-0, 190) return from that unit. That means that Sherrill and Defensive Coordinator Foge Fazio must find all new performers for the front five in Pitt's 50 scheme of defense. Despite the lack of experience Sherrill feels replacements can be found in the middle of the defensive line.

Battling for starting spots at tackle will be juniors Phil Puzzuoli (6-3, 237) and John Hendrick (6-5, 242) and sophomores Bill Maas (6-4, 258), Roosevelt Reede (6-4, 260) and Ron Killen (6-3, 242). Hendrick showed considerable potential before being felled early last year with a knee injury that also caused him to miss spring practice. A healthy Hendrick would add significant strength to the interior unit, although both Maas and Puzzuoli showed excellent potential in their backup roles last season. Junior J. C. Pelusi (6-1, 242) appears to have the edge over sophomore Tim Quense (6-2, 240) at middle guard with Puzzuoli having the versatility to switch into the middle too. Also lurking on the horizon is high school All-American Bill Fralic, whom coaches feel can make an immediate contribution on either the defensive or offensive front.

"The interior defensive line will be one of our strong points," Sherrill asserts. "People don't know much about some of the young people, but they can be very good. Big John (Hendrick) is the key here. If he can come back and play up to his potential, we can move Fralic on offense to really strenghten us there."

Replacing Green and second team All-America Ricky Jackson at defensive ends will be no easy task. In fact, it will be close to impossible. Junior Michael Woods (6-1, 196) showed in the spring that he's ready to give Pitt some excellent play at one end. The other slot could go to JC transfer Art Lowery (6-3, 225) or sophomore Al Wenglikowski (6-1, 206) who both had good springs along with Tom Johnson (6-4, 216) if he isn't moved into the interior line.

At linebacker the big-play maker Sunseri (five interceptions in '80) will also provide the defense with both maturity and fiery leadership. His mate on the other side will most likely come from a trio that includes juniors Rick Kraynak (6-2, 208) and Ray Lao (6-3, 214), and senior Yogi Jones (6-1, 231). Both Kraynak and Lao excelled on last season's special teams.

In the secondary, sophomore Tom Flynn started the last six games for Pitt last season and could develop into one of the nation's finest before he graduates. Teaming with him in the secondary will probably be senior backup Pappy Thomas (5-10, 182) at one of the corners and either junior Tim Lewis (6-0, 190) or sophomore Troy Hill (5-11, 170) at the other. The strong safety appears to be a battle between juniors Dan Short (6-2, 195) and Pat McQuaide (6-2, 195).

Unlike recent years when the defense dominated, 1981 could be a year of offense for Pitt. In short, Pitt appears to be loaded in the offensive line and talented and explosive in the passing game. The Panthers could well field one of the better scoring teams in the country.

To begin with, Pitt returns All-America candidates at quarterback, flanker, offensive center and offensive tackle. Add another returning starter at offensive guard and the starting halfback, and you have the nucleus of a solid offense.

"Certainly at quarterback, receivers, and offensive line we have the potential to be very, very good," maintains Sherrill. "Dan Marino and Dwight Collins have the potential to be the best ever to play their positions at Pitt."

Junior Dan Marino (6-4, 215) has started only 11 games at quarterback but already he is third on Pitt's all-time passing list with 3,289 yards. Despite knee problems last season (and off-season surgery), Marino has now hit on 246-446 passes for 25 touchdowns. A strong showing last spring also bodes well for a full recovery from his injury. His main target will be spectacular Dwight Collins, a 6-1, 202-pound speedster who last season as a freshman flanker caught 30 passes for a remarkable 827 yards and 10 TDs. The young Collins has already garnered some preseason All-America notice. Marino to Collins is expected to be one of the nation's outstanding aerial combinations the next two seasons.

In addition to Collins, talented juniors Julius Dawkins (6-3, 182), John Brown (6-4, 206), Keith Williams (5-11, 165) and Dennis Ballard (6-4, 206) are expected to man the wide receiver and tight end posts. Brown made the switch from split end to tight end in the spring, improving his blocking and immediately showing that he'll give the Panthers a deep threat from that position. With some flashy performances last season, Dawkins gave signs of also developing into a gamebreaking punt returner that Pitt has lacked in recent years.

Up front, Pitt returns talent, size and experience, a fact not lost on Jackie Sherrill.

"On paper this offensive line is the best we've had since I've been a head coach at Pitt," he judges. "They all received playing experience last year, and many of them have also shown plenty of versatility."

Anchoring the unit are a pair of All-America candidates in senior Emil Boures (6-2, 266) and junior tackle Jimbo Covert (6-4, 264). A guard last season, Boures has been temporarily switched to center in an effort to get the best possible talent and combination on the field at one time. Sherrill can afford the maneuver with the strong spring showing of sophomore tackle Greg Christy (6-4, 270). Returning regular Rob Fada (6-3, 245) is fixed at one of the guards while backup Ron Sams (6-4, 255) is a leading candidate on the other side. Junior Paul Dunn (6-4, 255) and transfer John Murray (6-4, 260) give the Panthers some depth, but Sherrill is still looking for more capable performers.

Running back is an area with standards that don't quite measure up to other offensive units yet. But with the development of a few key players, it could prove a pleasant surprise. Senior fullback Wayne DiBartola (5-11, 207) is as steady a performer as there is on the squad, both running and catching the ball. Sophomore halfback Joe McCall (5-11, 191) showed flashes of running brilliance last year and will be looking to be more consistent. He could be pressed by fast-improving sophomore Marc Bailey (5-11, 202) as well as a few of the frosh recruits.

In the kicking department, junior Chuck Palla is hoping to continue the line of very effective placement specialists who have graced Pitt Stadium in recent years. The incumbent punter, junior Dave Hepler (37.6 yard average in '80) must fight the challenge of several teammates as well as freshman Snuffy Everett.

Sherrill's young squad in 1981 (only four senior starters) is in stark contrast to last year's seasoned unit, a difference that affects coaching philosophy.

"We'll have to be more patient with these players," observes the head coach. "Practice time will be so much more important, because we not only have to get them ready to play, but we'll also have a lot of technique that will have to be taught and assimilated.

"With a young team, the first few games are that much more important. We can expect a certain amount of breakdowns, but the important thing is to win despite them."

Pitt has the advantage of a schedule that is well suited for an inexperienced but learning team. Two off weeks in September will provide extra valuable practice time for preparation and eliminating mistakes. And the Panthers' two sternest tests against Florida State and Penn State will be played at Pitt Stadium. These are two reasons not to expect the Panthers to fall mightily in this rebuilding year, but Jackie Sherrill has his own key to the season.

Says Sherrill, "We have to get our defense ready to play solid defensive football, make sure we stay healthy in certain crucial positions, and along the way build some depth in other positions."

In just five short years of coaching, Jackie Sherrill has already become the 10th active winningest coach in major college football. There has been a solid, winning football program built at Pitt and it probably would be unwise to think that's going to change dramatically in 1981.

HEAD COACH

JACKIE SHERRILL

He's no longer the new kid on the block.

In fact, this season begins his fifth at Pitt, and he's no longer considered just one of America's great young coaches.

Today, with a tremendous four-year record, Jackie Sherrill rightfully takes his place as one of America's top football coaches—sporting a record that can stand up to anyone's.

In just four seasons, Jackie Sherrill has emerged as one of the most successful head football coaches in all of college football.

His Pitt teams have gone 39-8-1 for a remarkable .812 winning percentage and four consecutive bowl games. This past season, the 11-1 Panthers were unanimously selected as the number two team in the nation, and his 1977 and 1979 squads were ranked sixth.

Under Jackie Sherrill's guidance, Pitt has won the Eastern Championship twice in-a-row, capped by Fiesta and Gator Bowl victories over Arizona and South Carolina.

Sherrill has been named Eastern "Coach-of-the-Year" by the New York Press Writers Association in both 1979 and 1980.

At 37, Sherrill is one of the youngest coaches in the land. But, already his record speaks for itself, and it says that Jackie Sherrill has taken his rightful place in a city that bills itself the "City of Champions."

Success is nothing new to Sherrill. The man has had phenomenal success with football, dating back to his scholastic days at Biloxi High School in Mississippi. At every level, up the ladder, he has been a big winner.

At Biloxi he was a High School All-America. At Alabama he played vital roles on teams that won two National Championships (1964 and 1965) and played in three major bowl games.

Since turning to coaching 13 years ago, teams that Jackie Sherrill has been associated with have gone to bowls nine times: at Alabama in 1966 when he was a graduate assistant; at Iowa State in 1971 and 1972 when he was Assistant Head Coach; at Pitt in 1973 and 1975 when he was Assistant Head Coach; and at Pitt again as Head Coach in 1977, 1978, 1979 and 1980.

As unbelievable testimonial to his success is this fact; since Sherrill first stepped on the Biloxi High School football field as a freshman, to last season's win over South Carolina, his combined win/loss record as a player and coach is 179 wins, 75 losses and five ties. That's a winning percentage of .691!

Sherrill first arrived on the Pitt scene in 1973 as Assistant Head Coach on the Johnny Majors staff that authored the resurgence of Pitt football.

Since 1973, Pitt has recorded a 71-21-2 record and Sherrill has seen 59 of those wins. Since 1973, Pitt has played in seven bowl games and Sherrill has been there for six of them; the 1973 Fiesta Bowl, the 1975 Sun Bowl, the 1977 Gator Bowl, the 1978 Tangerine Bowl, the 1979 Fiesta Bowl and the 1980 Gator Bowl.

Overall as a player and coach, Sherrill has been to 14 bowl games; as a player he went to the 1962 Orange, the 1963 and 1964 Sugar and the 1965 Orange Bowl; as a Coach he has been to the 1966 Orange, the 1971 Sun, the 1972 Liberty, the 1973 Fiesta, the 1975 Sun, the 1977 Gator, 1978 Tangerine, the 1979 Fiesta and the 1980 Gator Bowl.

With his 38 wins, he has established himself as Pitt's all-time winningest percentage coach, among names that are legendary in college football history: Pop Warner, Jock Sutherland, John Michelosen, and Johnny Majors.

After three years as Majors' top assistant, Sherrill was named head coach at Washington State and, though his record was 3-8, he did a commendable job. He took a downtrodden Washington State program and turned it into a competitive one in the rugged Pacific 10 Conference after only one year.

And, in December of 1975, Sherrill was called to sustain the Pitt program that was coming off the National Championship season. Majors left to take the Tennessee job, and the Pitt administration has been rewarded with its choice of Sherrill.

He took Pitt to a 9-2-1 record, the Gator Bowl championship and a fine #6 ranking in the final polls in 1977. With a sophomore-laden team in 1978, Sherrill guided them to an 8-4 record and an appearance in the Tangerine Bowl.

After graduation from Biloxi High School, where his picture hangs in the Hall of Fame, he enrolled at Alabama where he was a three-year letterman and played seven positions for Bear Bryant's Crimson Tide. At Alabama he played with Joe Namath, Steve Sloan and Ken Stabler, and was a member of the 1964 and 1965 National Championship teams.

Following his Alabama graduation, Sherrill served one year as graduate assistant and worked with the freshmen and the varsity linebackers under Bryant. He then moved with Frank Broyles at Arkansas in 1967 and worked the defense and with the secondary. He joined Majors at Iowa State in the 1968 off-season and was promoted to Assistant Head Coach in 1971, after serving as Defensive Coordinator in 1970. Then he followed Majors to Pitt.

Sherrill has served under three top head coaches as an assistant—Bryant, Broyles and Majors, three of the big ones in the college coaching profession. A masterful recruiter, Sherrill was mainly responsible for luring Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett to Pitt . . . but, more recently, has recruited blue chippers like Hugh Green, Danny Marino and Bill Fralic.

Along with the pursuit of his coaching interests, Sherrill has taken a deep-rooted interest in the city that he now happily calls home—Pittsburgh. He says Pittsburgh is part of him now and his involvement in the community attests to that.

In the four years he has been the Pitt head coach, he has made as much impact on the community as he has made with his football team. He is on the Board of Directors of the Leukemia Society of Pittsburgh. This year again, he sponsored (along with the Grand Olds Gang) the Jackie Sherrill Leukemia Open at the Pittsburgh Field Club to raise funds for the Western Pennsylvania Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America. Big name coaches from across the country participated in this fund raising event which has raised over $60,000 in two years.

Also a member of the Board of Directors of the Boys Club, Sherrill has worked on fund raising campaigns for WQED-TV (educational TV), the Civic Light Opera, Multiple Sclerosis, Cystic Fibrosis and the United Way.

His love for children makes him a frequent visitor at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh, which is only one block away from his office at Pitt Stadium. In each of his last four bowl trips, Sherrill has escorted Pitt players to visit unfortunate youngsters in children's hospitals. Also a Shriner, Sherrill toured the Shriner crippled children hospitals across the country in 1977.

Last year he was Honorary Chairperson of the Allegheny County Complete Count Committee of the 1980 Census.

To express their appreciation, last spring, the Allegheny County Commissioners proclaimed April 25, 1981 as "Jackie Sherrill Day." At the ceremony, the commissioners emphasized Sherrill's contributions to the community and to the winning spirit of the Pittsburgh area.

Maturity Key to Sherrill Teams

by Rich Koster

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following column was written by Rich Koster, sportswriter for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and ran in the Globe-Democrat on February 1, 1981. We thank Mr. Koster for his permission to reprint his article.

Jackie Sherrill is no ordinary college football coach. He is the product of an uncommon background and his method is as distinctive as his record.

As an undergraduate at Alabama he played eight different positions, had Bear Bryant as a mentor, Joe Namath as a teammate and lettered on two national championship teams.

"I like winning as much as the next guy," he emphasized over lunch Friday. "But there are other things in life; there are other aspects of football."

Don't assume by that comment that Sherrill regularly comes up short on autumn Saturdays. He doesn't. In four seasons at the University of Pittsburgh he has compiled a 39-8-1 record, including 24-2 the past two years.

His 1980 Panther edition wound up second in the national polls in Georgia. And Sherrill readily concedes regret that the championship was denied him and his team at the ballot box rather than on the field.

But winning and losing are not the priorities which emerge from a conversation with him. Prior to speaking on "short yardage and goal line defense" to an audience of almost 1,000 at the Champion Coach of the Year Clinic, the 37-year-old Sherrill reflected on some values essential to the man but not necessarily relevant to the scoreboard.

"I think my approach to players is different," he commented. "I don't believe in a lot of rules. They can't be late, they can't wear hats in the house and they can't embarrass themselves or the team. I put the players first, the program second and myself third.

"I'm sure I learn a lot more from my players than they do from me. You've got to let kids grow; you can't put your thumb on 'em and expect them to grow. It's archaic to tell them, 'Do as I say.' "

The Panthers are not without discipline, however. "I played for Coach Bryant," Sherrill says, almost matter-of-factly. "I believe in discipline. But I'm a player's coach; I believe kids will discipline themselves."

Perhaps the key to Sherrill's approach is the goal: maturity. If his players grow, if they mature, he believes they will win. So his teaching is not restricted to the blackboard or the practice field.

"There are two things required of our players," he says. "First, they must go out and speak. If a boy refused to appear before various groups and speak, I wouldn't force him. But I've never had a player who refused. In four years at Pitt a player may speak from 75 to 400 times.

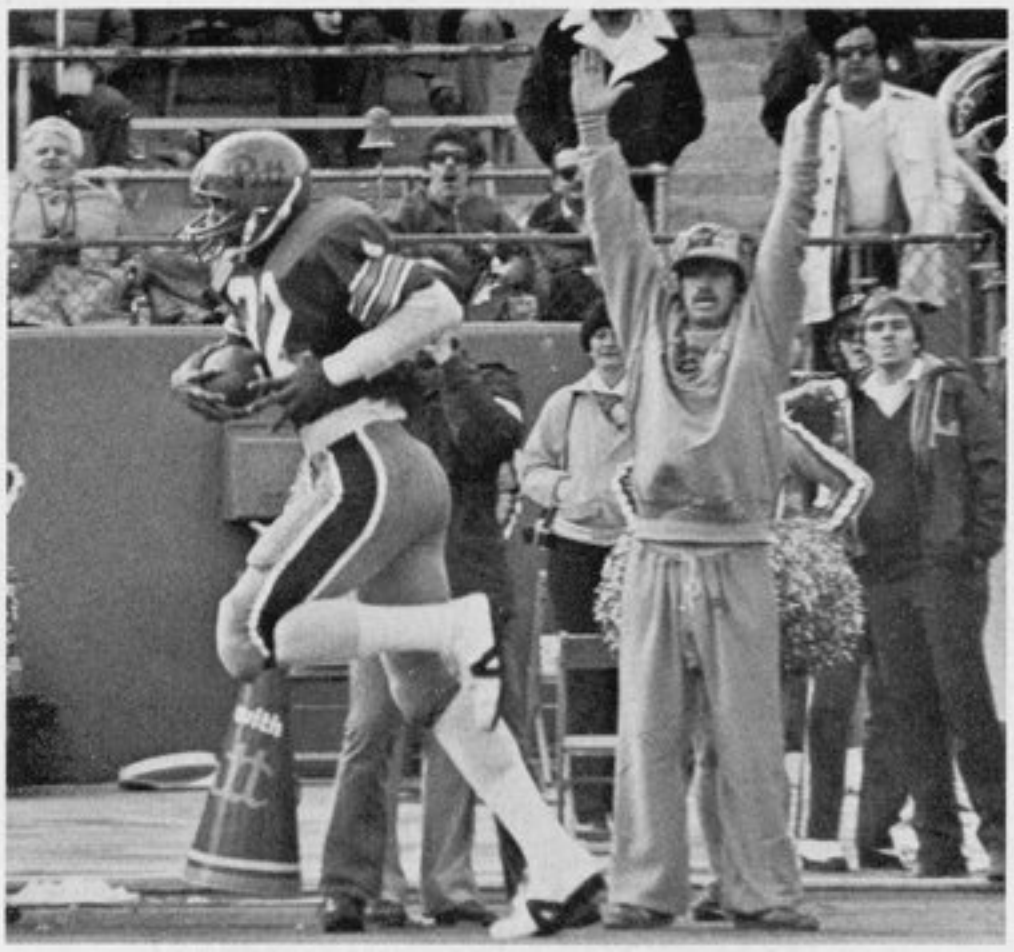
"Pittsburgh is unusual. There are a lot of banquets in Pittsburgh, from booster dinners to large, formal affairs like the Dapper Dan. Speaking helps mature players and you win with mature players."

"The other requirement of the Panther program is ongoing visits to hospitals. "Our players are exposed to children who don't have their physical advantages," Sherrill stresses. "They see that there's more to life than just football. And they develop natural responses to handicapped kids. They don't just stand around; they relate to those kids. They don't offer sympathy; they learn to understand."

One feature of every Pitt season is the "adoption" of a youngster with leukemia. The selected children attend practices, they spend Friday nights before home games with the team at a local hotel and travel to at least two road games.

The first child "adopted" by the Panthers in 1977 was hospitalized in the summer of '78. "It didn't look like he was going to make it," Sherrill relates. "I visited him and told him if he could make it through to our opener, we'd take him to New Orleans for the Tulane game.

"He died the day before we were to leave. But I really believe our football team gave him added will to live."



Sherrill is a 1965 graduate of Alabama, where he began his coaching career as an assistant under Bryant. Of his musical-chairs career at 'Bama, he smiles, "Maybe I just wasn't good enough to play any one position."

And of the legendary man in the hounds-tooth hat who influenced his late teens, he says: "I was lucky to play under Coach Bryant. But I also was lucky to coach under Frank Broyles at Arkansas and Johnny Majors at Pitt.

"Bryant is a man's man. He's everything you'd want to be. He's tough; he's big physically. He's disciplined and he's compassionate. He's forgotten more about football than we young coaches will ever learn.

"Broyles may be the most intelligent person in the game today. And Majors is probably the greatest public relations guy in the business. They all are first-class people. I believe in association, but I'm not any one of them.

"I'm a little like all three. But maybe a little more like Bryant. He was special in my life. He was like a father to me."

At the age of 31, with a decade's experience behind him as an assistant, Sherrill left Majors and Pitt in 1975 to become head man at Washington State. In '76 the Panthers won the national championship and Majors went home to Tennessee, creating a pressurized opening for Sherrill with the Panthers.

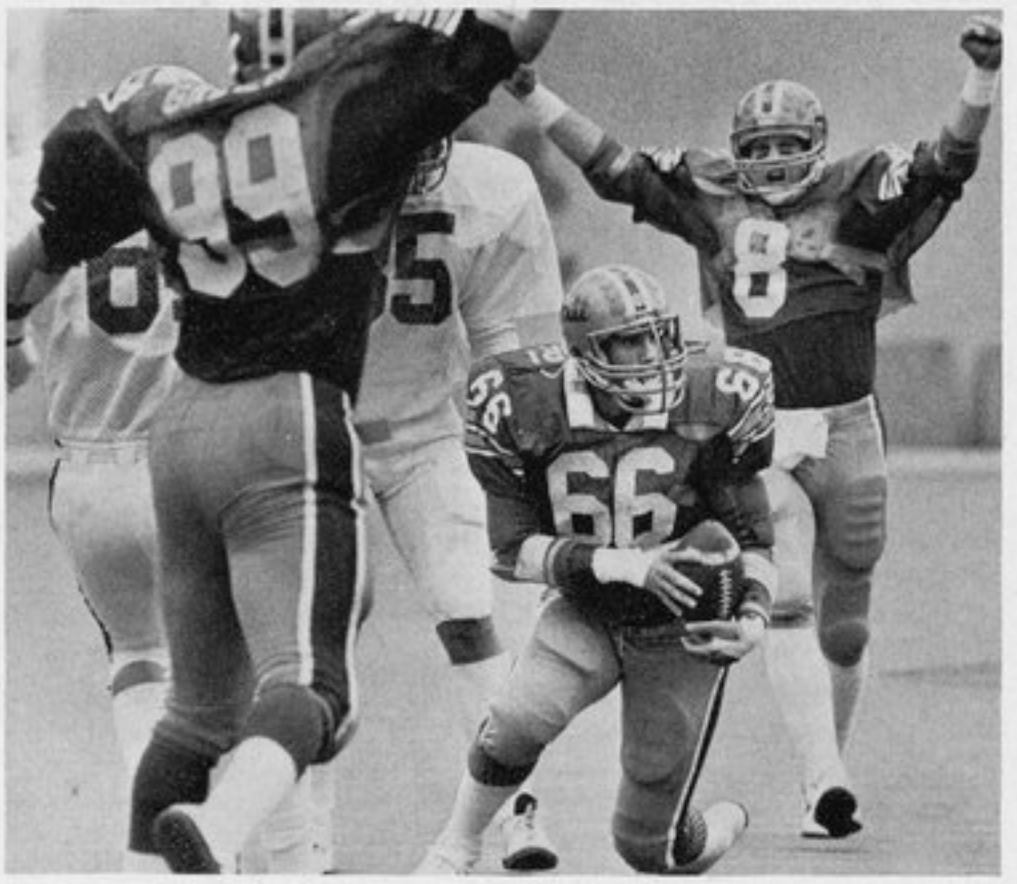
"Yeah," he admits, "it was tough following John. They didn't realize the difference between a winning team and a winning program."

Pitt had its championship, but it was Sherrill who matured the program — adding records of 9-2-1, 8-4, 11-1 and 11-1 to the perfect 12-0 of 1976.

And with all the winning, from Alabama in '64-65 through Arkansas and Pitt to the present, there has come this basic lesson:

"I've never seen a football team win without compassion," Sherrill asserts. "Winners have pride and discipline. And, always, they have compassion."

The Bear must be proud of Jackie Sherrill, who surely has found his position in football.



The Assistant Coaches

Serafino "Foge" Fazio

Assistant Head Coach
Defensive Coordinator, Linebackers

Serafino "Foge" Fazio has the distinction of being the only Pitt graduate on the present coaching staff—he played for the Panther football team from 1957-60. He joined Jackie Sherrill's Pitt staff in 1977, but was previously on the Pitt coaching staff in 1969-72 under Carl DePasqua. A Pittsburgh area (Coraopolis) native, Foge was All-WPIAL center and linebacker at Coraopolis High School and was the starting center at Pitt in 1959 . . . was named team MVP, All-East, and honorable mention All-America—he also played in the North-South All-Star game and the All-America Bowl. He was a fifth round draft choice of the Boston Patriots and played linebacker there for a year.

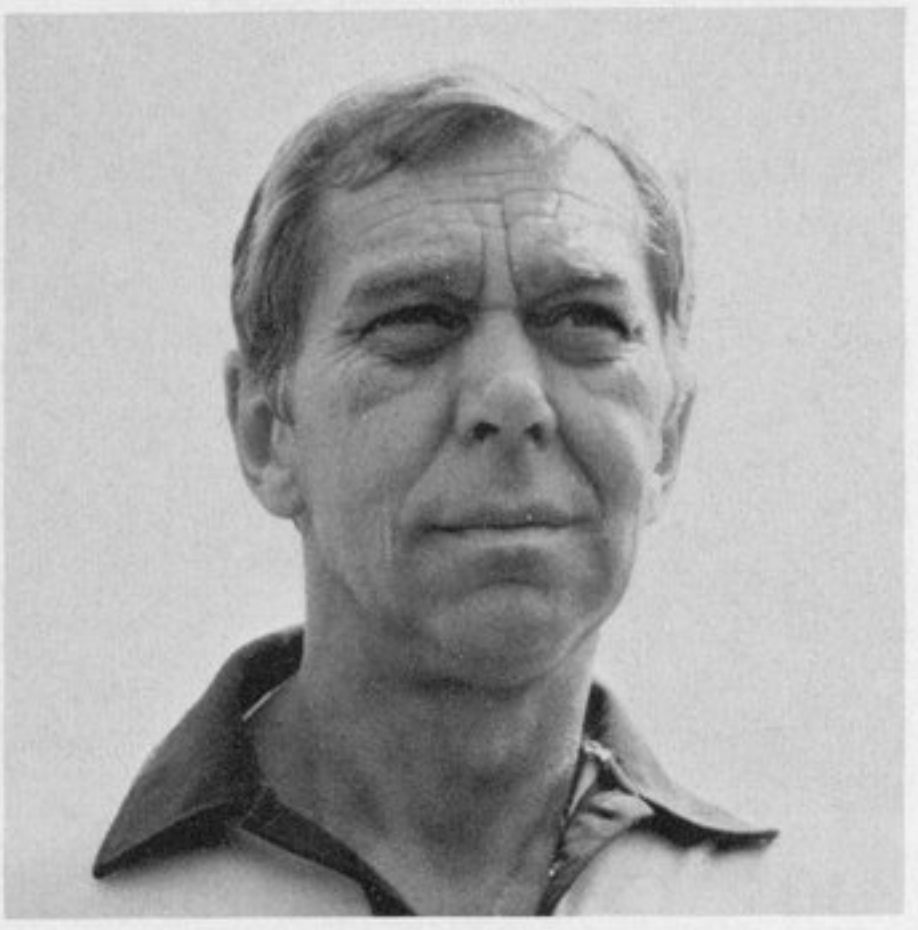
As defensive coordinator at the University of Cincinnati in 1976, his team was ranked fifth in scoring defense, ninth in rushing defense and eleventh in total defense in the final NCAA statistics.

The 1980 Panthers were ranked first in the nation in two categories—total defense and rushing defense, and Pitt's national ranking in the last five years has been second in overall defense.

Said Coach Jackie Sherrill: "It made sense to name "Foge" defensive coordinator and assistant head coach because his background in football has been excellent. He has had all the responsibilities. He has been a head high school coach, an assistant in college, a defensive coordinator and is an excellent recruiter. His accomplishments speak for themselves. And, he gets along very well with his athletes. In addition, he's brought a lot of people back to Pitt since his return—people he knew and played with—and that has meant a lot to us."

COACHING EXPERIENCE: HIGH SCHOOL—Ambridge, PA, 1963-74; Coraopolis, PA 1965-66; COLLEGE—Pitt, Graduate Assistant, 1962; Boston University, 1967; Harvard, 1968; Pitt, 1969-72; Cincinnati, 1973-76; joined the current Pitt staff in December 1977.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of Birth: 2/28/39. Hometown: Diamont, West Virginia, Alma Mater: Pitt, 1960. Married to the former Norma Popovich and the father of Kristen (13) and Vincent (10).



Joe Moore

Offensive Coordinator,
Offensive Line

Coach Jackie Sherrill plucked Joe Moore right out of high school coaching five years ago, where he was one of Western Pennsylvania's most successful scholastic coaches.

In 17 years of high school coaching Moore compiled a 119-32-4 record. His 1974-75 Upper St. Clair teams were both co-champions in the WPIAL. Moore's Upper St. Clair teams didn't lose in their last 36 games and only tied twice.

Joe graduated from Schenley High School which is just a few minutes away from the Pitt campus. He earned a Masters Degree in Counseling from Gannon College.

This season, Joe will be given the added responsibility of serving as offensive coordinator for the Panthers.

Coach Sherrill said, "Joe has done an excellent job at Pitt from day one, especially in the Pennsylvania recruiting. He has excellent rapport with the players and does an excellent job coaching them."

COACHING EXPERIENCE: HIGH SCHOOL—Richfield Springs, NY, 1959-60; Towanda, PA, 1961-62; McDowell (Erie) 1963-71; Upper St. Clair, 1972-75. Joined Pitt staff in December, 1976 from Upper St. Clair High School.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of Birth: 2/19/32. Hometown: Pittsburgh, PA. Alma Mater: Penn State '58. Married to the former Frances Gaskill and father of Joe (22), John (19) and James (14).

Joe Daniels

Quarterbacks

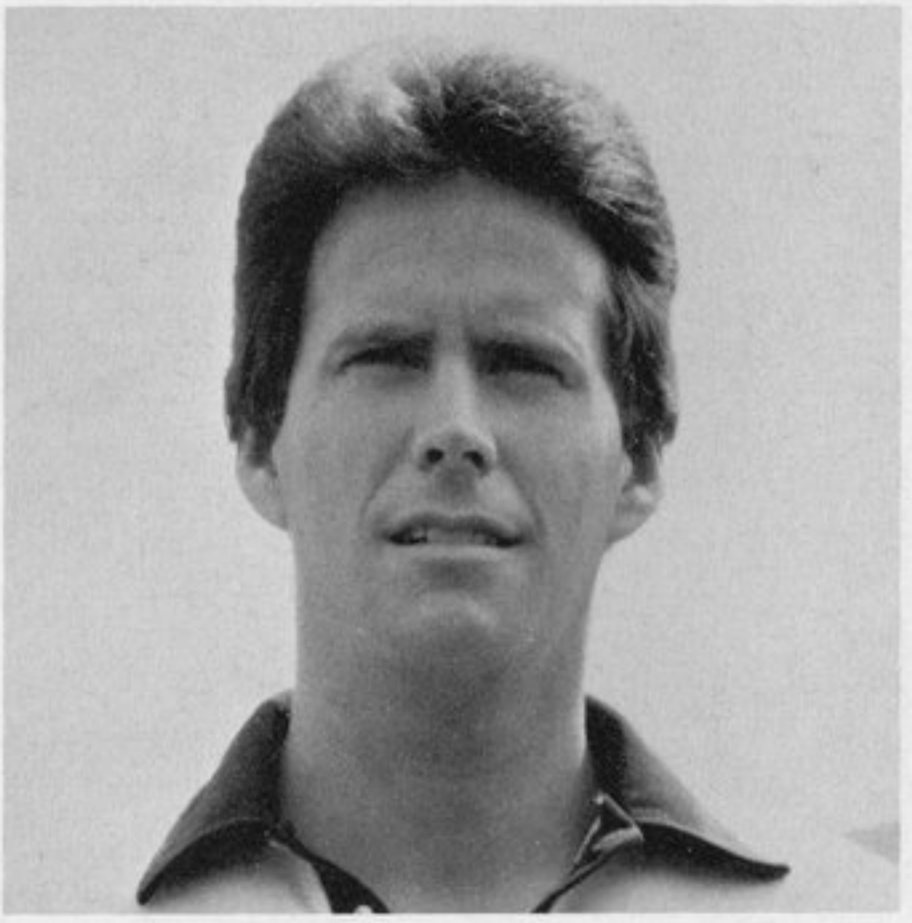
Former running back coach, Joe Daniels begins this year as quarterback coach, a position he's no stranger to.

On the college coaching level, Daniels was a quarterback coach at West Virginia, where WVU's fine signal caller, Oliver Luck was under his guidance. Before joining the West Virginia staff, Daniels spent 10 years as an assistant coach at Boston College. There he coached quarterbacks from 1975-77 and receivers from 1968-74. Two of his products from BC are Mike Kruczek and Kenny Smith.

Coach Jackie Sherrill said, "I'm delighted that Joe was able to join our staff. He has a solid background in college coaching, and I think he will blend in well with the current staff."

COACHING EXPERIENCE: HIGH SCHOOL—Bishop McCort, Johnstown, 1964-66. COLLEGE—East Stroudsburg, 1966, Graduate Assistant; New Hampshire 1967-68, Freshman Coach; Boston College, 1968-76, Quarterbacks and Receivers; West Virginia, 1977-79, Quarterbacks.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of Birth: 11/15/42. Hometown: Bethel Park, PA. Alma Mater: Slippery Rock '64; East Stroudsburg '66. Married to the former Kathy Hampton.



Bob Davie

Drop Ends

Bob Davie was probably the only present member of the Pitt coaching staff who was cheering for Arizona during the Fiesta Bowl in 1979. But as defensive end Coach for the Wildcats, it was his duty.

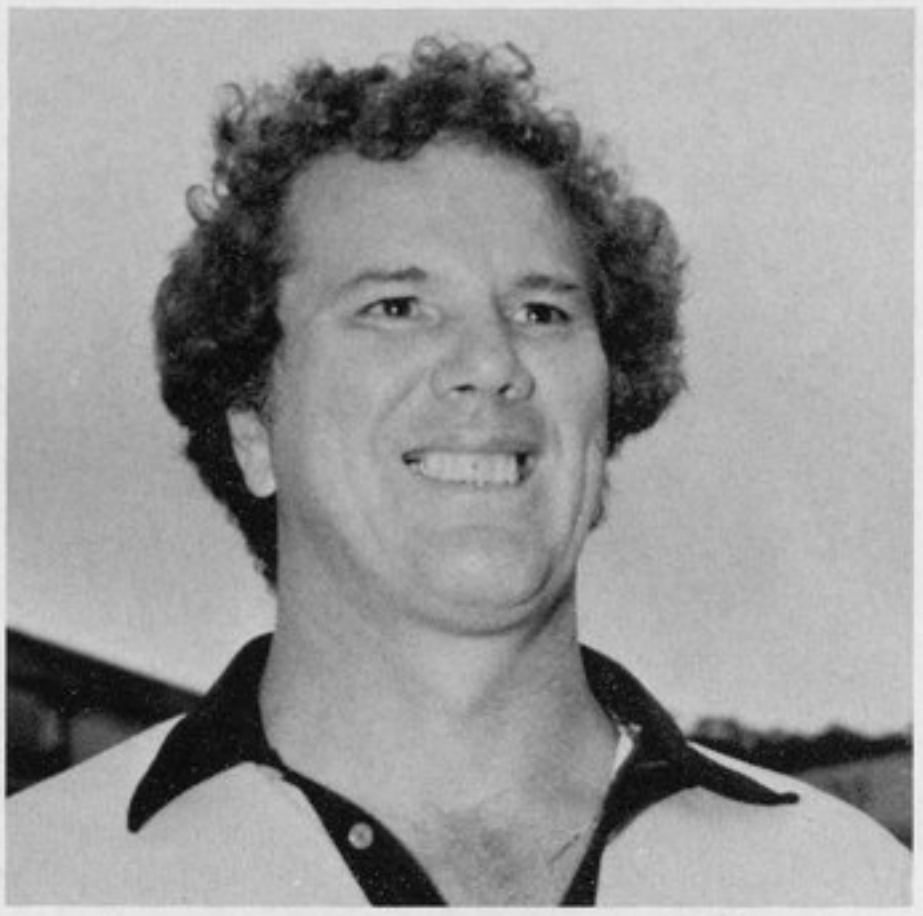
At 24, Davie was the youngest full-time coach in the PAC-10 Conference. He served as recruiting coordinator at Arizona from 1978-1979. He signed eight recruits in 1978 and nine in 1979.

At Youngstown State University, Davie started for four years and was the leading receiver for two. During his senior year, he served as captain of the team.

In 1977, Davie worked as a Graduate Assistant for the Panthers.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: COLLEGE—Pitt, 1977 Graduate Assistant; Arizona, 1978-79, Defensive Ends; Pitt, 1980, Part-Time Assistant.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Hometown: Coraopolis, PA. Moon High School graduate, started football, baseball, and basketball for 3 years. Alma Mater: Youngstown State '76. Married to the former Joanne Fratangelo.



Joe Naunchik

Receivers

Joe Naunchik has coached at both the high school and college levels. At Plum High School, his team won three Keystone Conference championships. He served as Head Coach at Plum Boro High School for nine years before coming to Pitt in March of 1979.

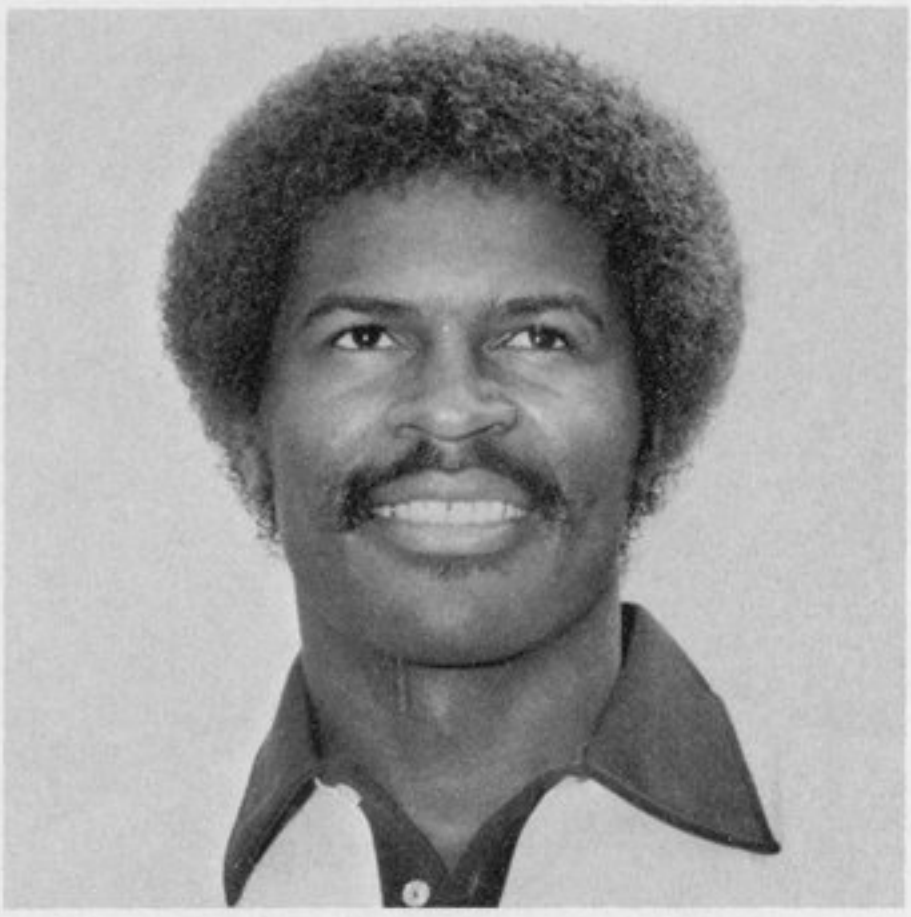
In his last four years of high school coaching, Naunchik compiled an overall record of 33-3-1

Naunchik was a fine athlete in his own right. At Arizona State, he was a running back under the legendary Frank Kush. His personal athletic prowness shifted from football to baseball when Joe played minor league baseball for the Pittsburgh Pirates for three years before earning his degree at Fairmont State in 1962.

Coach Jackie Sherrill said, "Joe did an outstanding job last year with the receivers and proved to be a fine on-the-field coach. He is also an excellent recruiter."

COACHING EXPERIENCE: HIGH SCHOOL—Valley, 1965-67, Offensive and Defensive Backs; Fox Chapel, 1968-69, Offensive and Defensive Backs; Plum, 1970-79, Head Coach. COLLEGE—Susquehenna, 1967-68, Offensive and Defensive Backs.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of Birth: 6/22/38. Hometown: Plum Boro, PA. Alma Mater: Fairmont State '62. Married to the former Terry Abraham and father of Joey (7) and Daniel (5).



George Pugh

Tight Ends

This season, the Panther coaching staff welcomes the addition of an experienced coach who seems to have winning football in his blood.

An Alabama native, George Pugh attended the University of Alabama where he played in four consecutive bowl games from 1972-75, including the 1973 Sugar Bowl game which lead to the National Championship.

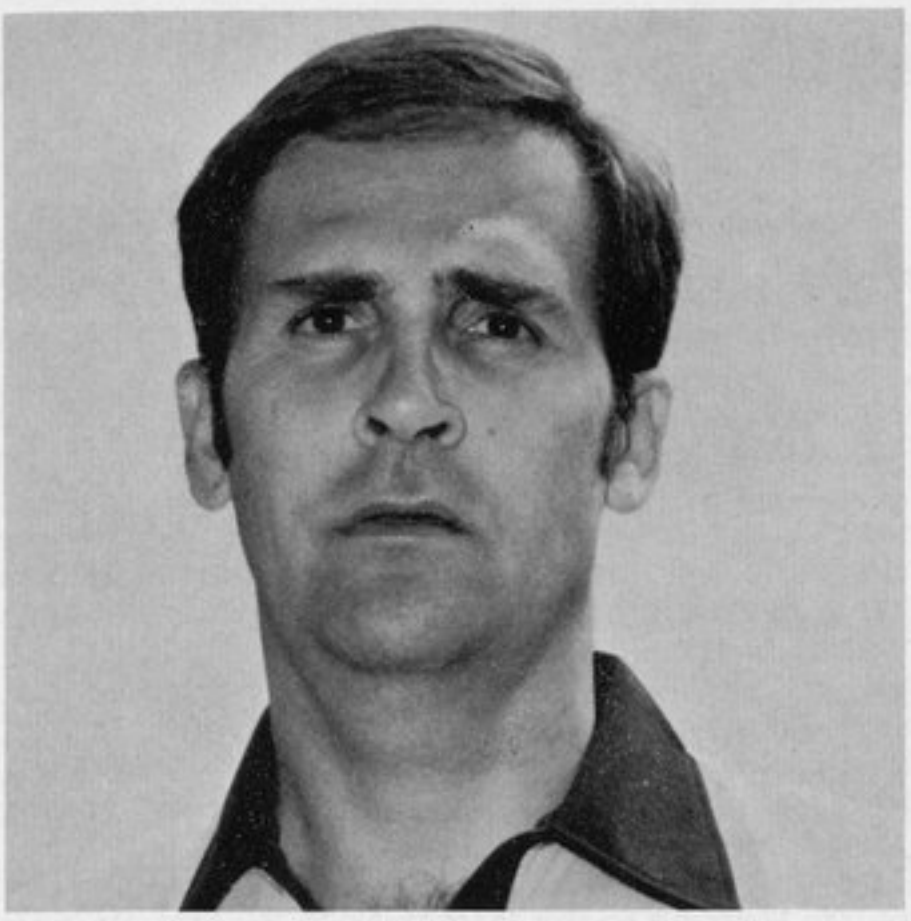
After gaining such honors as the S.E.C. All-Freshman ('72), Playboy Super Sophomore ('73), All-Conference ('73) and four varsity letters at Alabama, Pugh went on to coach high school football at Columbia High in Decatur, Georgia.

Pugh returned to collegiate football in 1979 when he served as the Receiver Coach at the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga. After a year at Tennessee, Pugh went to the University of New Mexico as an assistant coach in charge of receivers.

Pugh's cousin is Jethro Pugh of the Dallas Cowboys, and his brother, Phillip, plays for USC.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: HIGH SCHOOL—Columbia High School, Decataur, GA. assistant coach, 1976-78; Columbia High School, head coach, 1978-79 (Atlanta Journal "Coach-of-the-year," Division Champions). COLLEGE—University of Tennessee at Chattangooga, Receiver Coach, 1979-80; University of New Mexico, Receiver Coach, 1980-81.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of birth: 3/2/53. Alma Mater: Robert E. Lee High School, Montgomery, Alabama, University of Alabama '76. Married to the former Deborah Harper. The Pughs are the parents of April Lenore Pugh (2).



Andy Urbanic

Running Backs

Andy Urbanic joins this year's Panther coaching staff with 19 years of High School coaching experience behind him, including 11 years as the head coach at Penn Hills High School, where he lead eight teams to the State Championship.

Five-time "Coach-of-the-Year," Urbanic will serve as assistant coach in charge of running backs.

Along with Penn Hills, Urbanic brings experience as head coach at Wheeling Central Catholic High School, Triadelphia High School and Dillonvale High School in Dillonvale, Ohio.

Urbanic is no stranger to college athletics, and his versitility is obvious by his experience at Bethany College, where he served as Assistant Football Coach, Head Swimming Coach and Assistant Track Coach.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: HIGH SCHOOL—Dillonvale High School, Dillonvale, Ohio, Head Football Coach, Head Basketball Coach, Assistant Basketball Coach, 1959-62; Triadelphia High School, Wheeling, W.Va., Head Football Coach, Assistant Track Coach, 1962; Wheeling Central Catholic High School, Wheeling, W.Va., Head Football Coach, 1964-68; Penn Hills High School, Head Football Coach, 1969-80. COLLEGE—Bethany College, Assistant Football Coach, Head Swimming Coach, Assistant Track Coach, 1963.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of Birth—9/7/37. Alma Mater: Scott Township High School; Bethany College, undergraduate, West Virginia University, graduate. Married to the former Dorothy Gross. Parents of two children, Andrea Lynn (13) and Stacy Ann (6). The Urbanics live in Penn Hills.

Ray Zingler

Rush Ends

As a head coach at three high schools in New Jersey, Ray Zingler registered a successful 84-21 record. His teams won championships three times and one year led the state of New Jersey in scoring. Two recent high school players who played under him have gone onto college football—Glenn Howard and Chester Cooper at Minnesota.

In his playing days (1952-57), Ray was a quarterback and a defensive back. He once played with All-America Earl Lindley (1954), a running back at Utah State who led the nation in scoring.

The Zinglers have their share of football players too. Ray's son Chuck, a former defensive back at Navy, is now a commissioned Naval officer. Gary is a member of the Pitt team as a defensive back. Greg is a wide receiver on the 150-pound Navy football team.

"Ray is a definite asset to us," said Coach Sherrill. "For over 20 years he has been a solid coach in every respect. He has been very successful and has accumulated a wealth of knowledge. In the time he has been here he has gained the respect of the players and all the Pitt people."

COACHING EXPERIENCE: HIGH SCHOOL—Paulsboro, 1960-68, Head Coach; Westwood, 1969-71, Head Coach; Pemberton, 1972-75, Head Coach: Paulsboro, 1975-78, Head Coach. COLLEGE—Kansas State, 1957, Graduate Assistant; Trenton State College, 1975, Defensive Backs; Minnesota, 1978, Receivers. Joined the Pitt staff in January, 1979 from Minnesota.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of Birth: 8/24/34. Hometown: Nutley, NJ. Alma Mater: Utah State '57, Kansas State '58. Married to the former Carol Goodman and father of Valerie, Chuck, Greg, Gary and Sharron.

Part-Time Assistant Coaches

Anthony Folino

Anthony "Dino" Folino

Part-Time Assistant-Defensive Backs

This year, Dino Folino returns to his "home turf" to join the coaching staff of the Panthers.

A 1967 graduate of Central Catholic High School, where he played quarterback and won All-Catholic honors in 1966, Folino later served as defensive coordinator for his alma mater.

On the college level, Folino comes directly from the University of Cincinnati where he has spent five years as defensive backfield coach. Earlier, he coached at the University of New Hampshire and as a graduate assistant at Ohio State under Dick Walker, who is now the assistant coach of the Steelers.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: HIGH SCHOOL—Bishop Kendrick High School, Norristown, PA, 1971-72, Defensive Coordinator; Central Catholic High School, Defensive Coordinator, 1972-74. COLLEGE—Ohio State University, 1974-76, Graduate Assistant; University of New Hampshire, 1976, Defensive Backfield coach; University of Cincinnati, 1976-80, Defensive Backfield coach.

PERSONAL INFORMATION—Date of Birth 9/19/49. Alma Mater: Villanova University '71, Ohio State University '75. Married to the former Anita Bigatel. Parents of four children; Anthony (9), Alyse (8), Ann (5), Charles (1).

Bob Matey

Bob Matey

Part-Time Assistant-Defensive Line

Bob Matey was All-City for two years at Youngstown's Chaney High School as a fullback. There he was All-Northeast Ohio and Honorable mention All-State.

At Iowa State he was the smallest Big 8 middle guard in his playing days, but he was also the quickest. He was one of Jackie Sherrill's star performers when Sherrill was Defensive Coordinator at Iowa State. Matey was a starter on the 1971 Iowa State Sun Bowl squad.

Coach Jackie Sherrill said, "Bob was one of the most dedicated players I've ever seen. I've watched him develop since he was a freshman in college." Matey and "Foge" Fazio have been on the Pitt staff longer than any other current staff member.

Matey has been instrumental in bringing John, Jeff and Jay Pelusi to Pitt along with former quarterback great Matt Cavanaugh. He and his basset hound, Doogan, are inseparable, and his cooking exploits with tacos and chili give him a "hot" reputation as a culinary genius.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: COLLEGE—Iowa State, Graduate Assistant, 1972; Pitt Scouting Coordinator, weight program, 1978. Joined Pitt staff in December, 1972.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of Birth: 9/18/50. Hometown: Youngstown, OH. Alma Mater: Iowa State '72. Single. Children: None, unless you count basset hound Doogan (8).

Jim Miceli

Jim Miceli

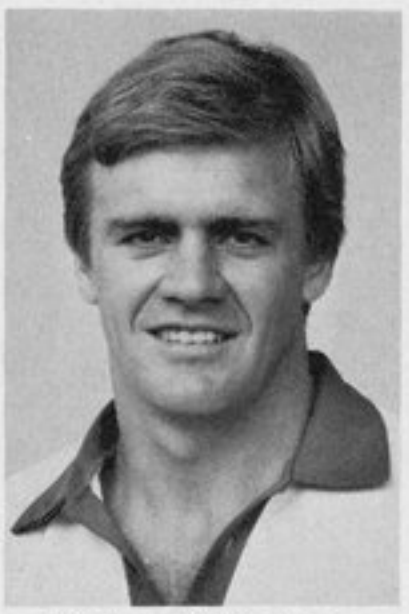
Part-Time Assistant-Defensive Line

Jim Miceli is a former offensive lineman at Southern Connecticut. A graduate of Ryeneck High School, Miceli coached the offensive line and was recruiting coordinator at Milford Academy (Conn.) before coming to Pitt. Miceli is a native of Mamaroneck, New York.

Steve Heintzelman
Volunteer Coach

Michael Sherman

Part-Time Assistant Offensive Line



Michael Sherman

A former semi-pro offensive lineman, Mike Sherman came from New England to join the 1981 coaching staff of the Panthers. In 1975, he played semi-pro ball for the Marlboro Shamrocks in Marlboro, Mass.

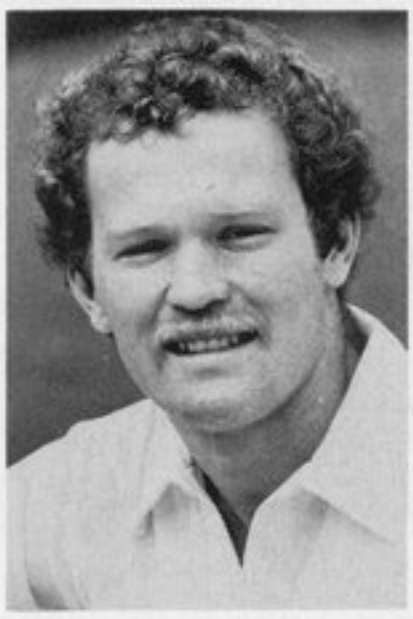
At Central Connecticut State College, Sherman played under the guidance of Bill Loika, one of the winningest active Division II coaches in the country. Honors Sherman won included three varsity letters as an offensive lineman and "Offensive Player of the Week" twice during his career. The Blue Devils were 9-1 his freshman year, and they went 7-3 his senior year.

Following his successful college playing career, Sherman coached high school football for three years. In 1978, he coached the Stamford (Ct.) High School offensive and defensive lines. From 1979 to his present move to Pitt, he was the offensive line coach and defensive coordinator at Worchester Academy. His team became the 1980 Class "A" New England Prep School Champs with a 8-0 record for the season.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: HIGH SCHOOL—Stamford High School, Stamford, Conn., 1978; Worchester Academy, Worchester, Mass., 1979-80.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of Birth: 12/19/56. Hometown: Northboro, Mass. Alma Mater: Central Connecticut State College ('78). Sherman is single.

The Panther Support Staff



Tom Connors

Head Equipment Manager

Tom Connors, who has been directly and indirectly associated with the Pitt athletic program since he was seven years old, begins his fourth season as Head Equipment Manager at Pitt.

Tom's relationship with Pitt goes back to his childhood days when his Dad brought him to work at Pitt. His father, "Boo," was the head equipment man at Pitt for 25 years.

Tom has learned to handle such a large operation at such a young age (27 years old) from working with three of the most knowledgeable equipment people in the business—his father, Tony Parisi of the Steelers, and Jack Hart, formerly of the Steelers.

Connors' duties include maintaining equipment supplies, equipment distribution and supervision of the locker room area and field.

Before becoming Head Equipment Manager at Pitt, Connors served as his father's assistant, and periodically assisted the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1969 to 1975.

Tom will be married next June 5 to Kim Green, a former Pitt track team captain. He resides in Oakland.

The Football Office Secretarial Staff

Kenny Bashioum

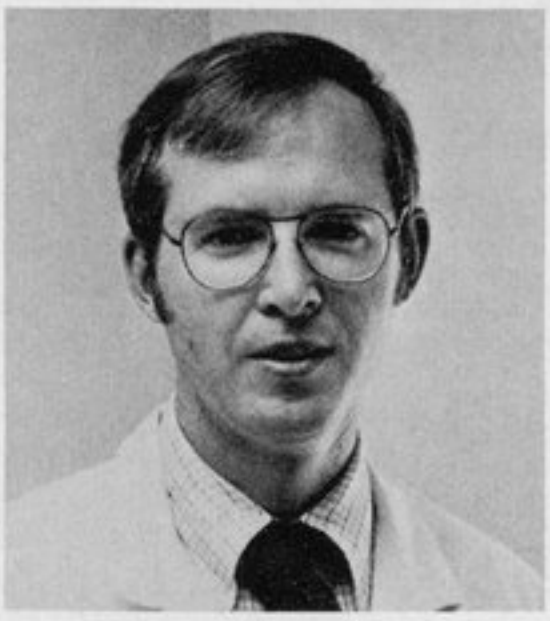
Volunteer Football Office Assistant

Kenny Bashioum has been a valuable member of the Pitt football office staff for the past six years. His hard work and dedication are great assets to the football program and the fact that all of this is on a voluntary basis, makes Kenny's contributions to the program even more valuable.

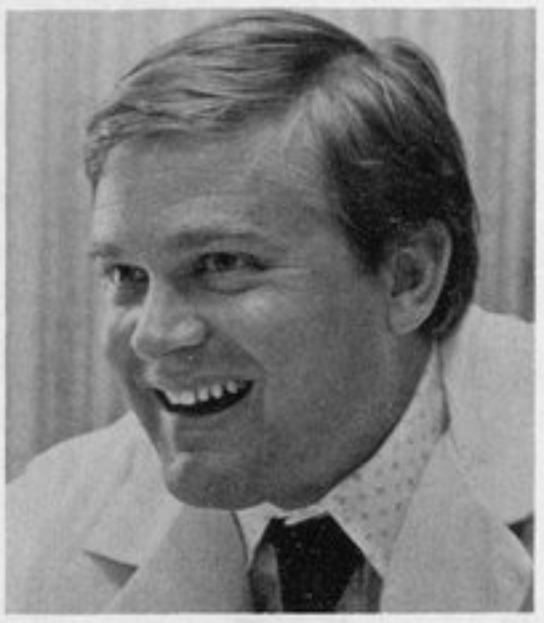
"Kenny just does a super job in our office as a volunteer assistant," said Head Coach Jackie Sherrill. "He is an outstanding addition to our staff and our program, and helps us out immensely."

Bashioum retired from J & L Steel in 1972. He and his wife, Mary, have three sons—Kenny, Leslie and Charlie—and six grandchildren.

THE MEDICAL CARE OF PANTHER ATHLETES



Dr. Richard Ray



Dr. James McMaster

The Pitt Panthers receive superior medical care provided by the University Division of Sports Medicine, under the direction of Dr. James H. McMaster, Director of the Department of Orthopedic Surgery of Allegheny General Hospital and Dr. Richard L. Ray, team physician and orthopedic surgeon.

In addition to its physicians, the Division of Sports Medicine boasts a highly qualified staff of certified trainers. Kip Smith is the Head Athletic Trainer who oversees the management of all the training rooms and their services to the athletes. He is also the head football trainer and is assisted by Francis Feld. David Perrin coordinates the athletic training education curriculum and works with the Field House sports.

Under the supervision of Doctors Ray and McMaster, the Division of Sports Medicine has sponsored a daily sports medicine clinic over the past ten years, where Pitt varsity athletes are examined and treated. In addition to Ray and McMaster are more than a dozen consultants from various departments of the medical school, who provide comprehensive coverage to the more than 500 male and female varsity athletes and other students in the huge intramural and recreational programs.

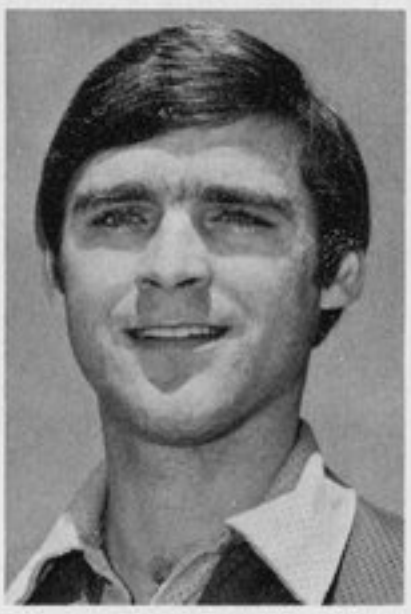
The University of Pittsburgh offers an N.A.T.A.-approved undergraduate curriculum designed to prepare students for the certification examination. This program was established in 1975 and is offered through the School of Education, Program in Health, Physical and Recreation Education.

Because of the need for certified athletic trainers on the secondary school level, N.A.T.A. has introduced the concept of the teacher-trainer. Students enrolling in athletic training curricula are strongly recommended to pursue a teaching certificate program. A unique feature of the program is that students can major in any teaching curriculum while pursuing a career in athletic training.

The program is one of a few in the country open to both education and physical therapy majors.

With this extensive program, an additional responsibility of the athletic trainer at Pitt is teaching the Athletic Training and Sports Medicine curriculum.

As well as servicing all 19 athletic teams at the University, the Pitt training staff serves as consultants and participants in clinics throughout the area.



Kip Smith

Kip Smith

Head Football Trainer

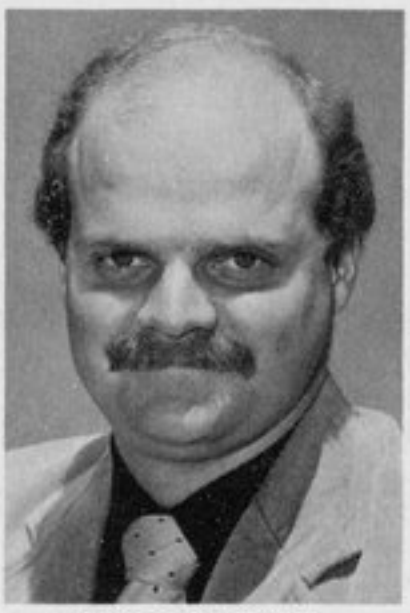
Kip Smith joined the Pitt staff in 1974 and currently directs the training room for the Panther football squad.

A native of Mentone, Indiana, Kip attended Indiana State (Terre Haute) University where he majored in physical education with a specialization in athletic training. He received his masters degree from the University of Arizona.

He served as the head athletic trainer at Tucson (Arizona) High School before coming to Pitt. As an assistant athletic trainer at Pitt, Kip covered three football bowl games as well as the NIT (basketball) Tournament. He was elevated to head trainer in 1977 and has covered four more football bowl games since.

Kip has lectured and directed several clinics and sports medicine workshops, along with helping to coordinate the education curriculum in athletic training at Pitt.

Kip and his wife Debbie (Kiefner) have two children: Stacey 4, and Jason 2.



Francis Feld

Francis Feld

Athletic Trainer

Francis Feld joined the Pitt staff as an athletic trainer and clinical instructor in the Division of Sports Medicine in 1978. Prior to that, he was head athletic trainer for two years at Center Township High School.

Francis is a 1976 graduate of Pitt. He earned a B.S. degree in History and Sociology, with a specialization in athletic training.

He has lectured at various high school and midget football league clinics in the area.

A native of North Beaver (Mohawk High School) Township, Francis is single.

Academic Support Services For Pitt Athletes

Heavy demands, both on and off the field, are placed on athletes at the University of Pittsburgh. Each student-athlete is expected to take a full schedule of classes while, at the same time, practice, travel and compete with his/her athletic squad.

In recognition of this, the University of Pittsburgh established the Support Services for Athletes in 1976. This office is designed to assist all Pitt athletes in defining and reaching their academic goals.

The director of the Academic Support Services is Paul Yuna, a former Pitt football letterman. Yuna, who holds a Masters degree in Counseling, is assisted by Lloyd Weston, former Pitt football All-America and doctoral candidate in the School of Education, and by David Pistolesi, who holds a Masters degree in History from Pitt. A fourth staff member is affiliated with the Learning Skills Center.

The Support Service is structured into three components: assessment, monitoring, and tutoring. This structure was designed to best serve the needs of the athletic population. The office provides many services to the student athletes. Basic skills are assessed and an academic profile is developed. Learning and study skills are strengthened through programs coordinated through the office. Academic advising is offered, as is personal and career counseling. The ultimate goal of the office is graduation of each student athlete at Pitt. Class performance is regularly checked and tutoring is provided. The Support Service staff monitors the progress each athlete makes towards his or her degree.

EMIL BOURES

Center/Offensive Guard 6-3, 267

Senior Norristown, PA

Emil was one of the top offensive linemen in the East last year and is expected to be one of the top linemen in the country in this, his senior year . . . saw practice time at both the center and guard positions this spring and is tentatively listed as first-string center on the depth chart, but that could change . . . "We felt that Emil was one of the finest guards in the country last year," said Offensive Coordinator Joe Moore. "We moved him from guard to center, but we may not keep him there; he's made the adjustment well. We feel Emil can be one of the finest centers in the country. He has great ability and great desire. He should do an outstanding job for us at center and at guard" . . . a great overall athlete with tremendous strength, Emil is very dedicated to playing football, and doing what it takes to become the best . . . an excellent pass blocker, he gave up no sacks in over 400 passes last year . . . started some as a freshman three years ago, and has held down his position as a starter in every game for the past two seasons . . . very consistent and very aggressive according to Moore . . . the pro scouts rate him as one of the top linemen prospects this year and like his flexibility—the fact that he can not only play at guard, but also the tackle and center spots effectively . . . a team leader who really took his place as an offensive leader in the Spring . . . as senior member of the offensive line, will make most of the calls on the line of scrimmage . . . worked closely with last year's Outland Trophy winner Mark May, and the two developed a close friendship both on and off the field . . . "There's so much you can say about Emil," said Moore. "He's just one tremendously talented, dedicated athlete. The biggest thing for us is his flexibility on the field. He's a very consistent player—very dedicated—very aggressive. He has a tremendous ability to adjust." . . . along with Jimbo Covert, Emil is one of the strongest men on the Panther squad, and may be the strongest . . . was coached by Jack Hash at Bishop Kenrick High in Norristown . . . AP first-team All-State, All-East, Big 33, Adidas and Scholastic All-America, first team All-Area and All-Catholic . . . won three football letters, two track and one baseball . . . business and speech major at Pitt with plans to be an accountant . . . Emil Nicholas Boures was born 1/29/60 . . . son of Emil and Margaret Boures of Norristown, PA.

DWIGHT COLLINS

Flanker 6-1, 202

Sophomore Beaver Falls, PA

Each year a select few college football freshmen seem to belong in a higher class. Tony Dorsett, Hugh Green and Dan Marino have been past examples at Pitt. And last season Panther freshman flanker Dwight Collins joined these select few. In his first year of college football Collins coolly latched onto 30 catches for 827 yards and 10 TDs, good for an incredible average of 27 yards per catch to quickly develop into one of the country's premier long-bomb threats . . . during his sensational frosh campaign Collins set Pitt receiving records for yards gained receiving in one year (827), yards gained receiving in one game (183 yards vs. Florida State), and touchdown passes received in a single season (10) . . . a game breaker who should be one of the country's most explosive receivers, Collins averaged a touchdown every third time he caught the ball in 1980 . . . Collins is the finest Panther receiver since Pitt All-America Gordon Jones and is destined to surpass even Jones' feats before he's through . . . at 6-1, 202 pounds he's already built in the classic flanker mold, but what makes him almost impossible to defend is his combination of 4.3 track-star speed (he was a Pennsylvania State 100 and 200 meter sprint champion) and an incredible leaping ability reminiscent of a particular pro receiver on the other side of town — the Pittsburgh Steelers' Lynn Swann . . . besides his record-breaking performance versus powerful Florida State, Collins also surpassed the 100-yard barrier in receiving against Syracuse (125) . . . registered big games against some of Pitt's toughest opponents last season by averaging 24 yards per catch against Tennessee and 42 yards per catch versus the Terps of Maryland . . . a former Parade High School All-America running back, fate had as big a hand in his blossoming as a freshman as anything else . . . .started last year as Pitt's third-team tailback before injuries in the Panthers' opener with Boston College to both the first- and second-team flankers necessitated his switch for the second game of the season against Kansas to flanker, a position he had never played before . . . the rest, quite simply, is history as he started at flanker the remainder of the season . . . his receiving helped Pitt roll to a 5th-place ranking in the country in passing offense . . . should team with quarterback Dan Marino to give Pitt one of the most dynamic passing duos in college football in 1981 . . . with his incredible athletic ability and his knack for coming down with the ball in a crowd, pro scouts have already tabbed Collins as professional material . . . the frightening thing for future Pitt opponents is the fact that he's still learning the position and should improve on even last year's performance . . . also has all the tools to be featured as a runner . . . one of the most highly sought-after football players in the country coming out of high school, Collins came to Pitt from the same Beaver Valley that produced Tony Dorsett . . . in fact, he was called by some the "second coming" of Dorsett . . . a High School All-America in both football and basketball, Collins earned no less than 11 letters at Beaver Falls High School . . . a business major . . . Dwight Dean Collins was born 8/23/61 . . . son of Eli and Clara Collins.

JIMBO COVERT

Offensive Guard 6-5, 279

Junior Conway, PA

Considered the top lineman in the state of Pennsylvania his senior in high school, Jimbo Covert proved why last season, as he made a successful switch from defensive to offensive line, and blossomed into one of the finest linemen in the East late last season . . . a great overall athlete who is devoted to strength training . . . along with Emil Boures, Jimbo is one of the strongest men on the Panther squad . . . possesses outstanding speed and agility, according to Pitt line coach Joe Moore . . . suffered an early season shoulder injury years ago, had surgery and sat out the rest of the year; last spring was switched from defensive tackle and middle guard, to offensive tackle, secured the starting position and has anchored the left side of the line ever since . . . it was the first time he'd played offense since high school. . . Jimbo had a tremendous season last year," said Moore. ALL-AMERICA CANDIDATE

DAN MARINO

Quarterback 6-4, 215

Junior Pittsburgh, PA

There are few quarterbacks in the country as productive as Pitt's Dan Marino . . . although he has started only 11 games at quarterback, he is already third on Pitt's all-time passing list with 3,289 yards. The 6-4, 215-pound junior has passed for over 200 yards no less than four times—three of those games coming against college football powers Maryland, florida State, and Penn State . . . Marino has also registered the fourth (1,680 yards in 1979) and sixth (1,609) best single season passing performances by a Panther quarterback in his two-year career and is just 931 yards short of becoming Pitt's all-time leading thrower . . . as a highly-heralded frosh, Marino became the starter midway through the 1979 season and led Pitt to a Fiesta Bowl crown, a Top 10 finish, and one of the best records (11-1) in the history of the school . . . in the process he was rated as the NCAA's 10th leading quarterback—the top finish of any freshman signal-caller of that year—and was instrumental in the Panthers' record-setting team performance in passing that season (2,575 yards) . . . Marino picked up in 1980 where he left off in 1979 before a knee injury (vs. West Virginia) forced him to the sidelines for three games . . . came back for the final four games of the year despite being bothered by a knee that eventually required off-season surgery, and shared the quarterbacking duties with Rick Trocano . . . still managed to throw for 15 touchdown passes while hitting on over 52% of his aerials . . . came off the bench late in the year versus Army and, in less than three quarters of play, exploded for 292 yards through the air . . . again he was instrumental in a Pitt passing attack that set another team record for passing in a single season (3,185 yards), and was the fifth most productive aerial attack in the country last season . . . for a career he's completed over 55% of his passes (246-446) and 25 touchdowns . . . a classic drop-back passer, Marino's 6-4 stature makes him ideal as a pocket passer . . . observers are not only struck by his pin-point accuracy and lightning-quick release, but also marvel at the incredible poise he has shown in his first two years . . . has as much pure passing ability as anyone in the nation and could really prove himself if he can get a full year of starting under his belt . . . Pitt Coach Jackie Sherrill, who played with both Ken Stabler and Joe Namath at Alabama, says that Marino compares favorably with both these past All-Americas . . . like few QB's in the country, Marino has shown he can dominate a game with his passing . . . showed plenty of pro potential in both his freshman and sophomore years and should mature into a truly great college quarterback in this, his junior season . . . he's the type of athlete that just makes things happen—case in point: in his very first college appearance he threw three consecutive passes, the first, a toss into the endzone that was intercepted, the second was almost intercepted, and the third went for a touchdown . . . Marino went to high school at Central Catholic High, in the shadow of Pitt's campus . . . was All-Everything in high school and one of the top two most sought after H.S. quarterbacks in the country . . . was also drafted in the 4th round of the major league baseball draft by the Kansas City Royals in 1979 . . . a communications major at Pitt . . . Daniel C. Marino was born 9/15/61 . . . son of Dan and Veronica Marino.

The 1981 Spring Blue/Gold Game

Dan Marino's 23 passing yards provided a lopsided 21-0 victory for the Blue team in this year's spring game of the first vs. second strings (Gold team). Marino's 13 of 26 passing performance clearly dominated the offense while Gold quarterback, Dan Daniels' 5 of 10 for 39 yards lead the team's offensive drive of 121 yards.

The only scoring of the game occurred in the first half on three Blue touchdowns. Blue scored early in the game on a three yard run by Wayne DiBartola and later in the quarter when John Brown ran 57 yards with a pass from Marino.

The final touchdown of the game came with another short run by DiBartola. Eric Schubert connected three times for extra points, making a final score of 21-0 in the 1981 spring game.

The Ed Conway Memorial Award

Ed Conway was the "Voice of Pitt Football" for four years, before his untimely death in 1974. He was an honest, hard-working, professional sportscaster in the city of Pittsburgh for many years. Above all, Ed Conway was a friend.

In appreciation of his work, and in keeping alive memories of him, Pitt football will present an award in his honor annually to the Most-Improved offensive and defensive player on the squad each Spring.

Green's #99 Retired

On November 8, 1980 at halftime of the Pitt vs. Louisville football game, the University of Pittsburgh honored senior defensive end Hugh Green by retiring his jersey, #99.

No other Pitt player will wear #99.

Green is only the second player in Pitt history to have his number retired. The first was Tony Dorsett's #33. It was retired at halftime of Dorsett's last home game, November 13, 1976, vs. West Virginia.

THE 1980 SEASON IN REVIEW

PITT 14, BOSTON COLLEGE 6

PITTSBURGH, PA (Sept. 13)—Dan Marino completed 23 of 43 passes for 221 yards and two touchdowns (to Benjie Pryor), and the Panther defense held its ground late in the game to offset a determined effort by the BC Eagles, 14-6. Pryor grabbed 10 passes in his best individual effort, and was named Pitt's MVP by ABC, which telecast the game regionally. Steve Fedell led the defense with 11 tackles, while cornerback Terry White grabbed two interceptions. In a freakish happening, two Panther flankers, Barry Compton and Larry Sims, went down with knee injuries that would cause both to miss the remainder of the season, opening the door for freshman Dwight Collins, who saw some action at halfback versus the Eagles.

PITT 18, KANSAS 3

LAWRENCE, KS (Sept. 20)—Defense was the Panther's trump card in this wind-blown, heat-engulfed contest won by the Panthers, 18-3. Pitt held the Jayhawks to 86 total yards, and a scant four yards rushing on 32 attempts. The Pitt offense, led by the passing of Dan Marino and freshman tailback Joe McCall, gained 456 total yards. Dave Trout put Pitt on the board with a 21-yard field goal in the second quarter. The Panthers went ahead to stay late in the half on a three-yard TD pass from Marino to Pryor, following a brilliant 43-yard halfback pass from Artrell Hawkins to flanker Dwight Collins, who was making his first collegiate start. Reserve tight end Mike Dombrowski grabbed his first career TD pass (23 yards) from Marino in the third quarter, and Pitt's final points came when Steve Fedell trapped Jayhawk quarterback Larry Kemp in the end zone for a safety.

PITT 36, TEMPLE 2

PITTSBURGH, PA (Sept. 27)—The Panthers made it 13 wins in a row with an easy 36-2 romp over the Owls. The game did have its scary moments, though, as Temple took the early lead when Pitt punter Dave Hepler was trapped in the end zone for a safety. After that, it was all Dan Marino, as the sophomore quarterback threw for three touchdowns in less than one-half of the action, before being forced to the sidelines with a twisted knee. Sophomore Danny Daniels and starting free safety Rick Trocano played the remainder of the game. Dave Trout booted field goals of 49, 43 and 23 yards, and Randy McMillan ran for Pitt's other touchdown. After the game, Temple Coach Wayne Hardin, when asked to comment on Pitt's defense, shook his head and said, 'Whew—it's devastating."

PITT 38, MARYLAND 9

PITTSBURGH, PA (Oct. 4)—The Panthers put all aspects of their game together in walloping the visiting Terps, 38-9. Dan Marino, coming off a slight knee injury, passed for 282 yards and three touchdowns, while the awesome Panther defense, led by Hugh Green, bottled up Charlie Wysocki, limiting him to 38 yards on 19 carries. The Terps gained but 22 yards on 43 rushing attempts. The Panthers struck quickly in the first quarter, with Marino hitting Collins from 51 yards out for a score, and following up with a 17-yard bulls-eye to Willie Collier. Dave Trout supplemented a Randy McMillan touchdown with a 40-yard field goal. Jerry Boyarsky, Hugh Green and Ricky Jackson led the defensive efforts with 11, 10 and 9 solo tackles respectively.

FLORIDA STATE 36, PITT 22

TALLAHASSEE, FL (Oct. 11)—A combination of Sam Platt, the Seminoles' kicking game and costly turnovers led to Pitt's only blemish on the 1980 mark, a 36-22 loss to Florida State on a hot, muggy Tallahassee night. Outstanding individual efforts by Marino and Dwight Collins weren't enough, as FSU punter Rohn Stark and field goal specialist Bill Capece kept the Panthers at a safe distance throughout the night as the Panthers mounted a game, but unsuccessful comeback attempt. Capece's four field goals and Stark's booming punts offset Marino's 286 yards passing, and Collins' 6 receptions for 183 yards (a Pitt record) and two touchdowns. Joe McCall tallied Pitt's other touchdown on a 2-yard run, but seven turnovers were too much to overcome in this game which featured two of the nation's top independents.
...Platt rushed for over 100 yards, the only back to turn that trick on Pitt during the 1980 season.

PITT 42, WEST VIRGINIA 14

PITTSBURGH, PA (Oct. 18)—A familiar face came to the rescue as the Panthers rebounded from the Florida State loss to beat the Mountaineers, 42-14 in Pitt's Homecoming game. Dan Marino injured his knee early in the game with WVU holding a 7-0 lead, but safety Rick Trocano left his defensive position to take over the offense, and led the Panthers to four quick second quarter touchdowns. Mixing the running and passing well, Trocano excited the crowd with a truly unique performance under trying circumstances. The senior completed 8 of 9 passes for 138 yards and two touchdowns during that stretch. Willie Collier and Dwight Collins simply outran WVU defenders to score, and Randy McMillan ran for two TDs to give Pitt an insurmountable 35-7 halftime lead. The teams exchanged touchdowns in the second half—WVU scoring again on an Oliver Luck to Cedric Thomas pass, and Dwight Collins displaying his athletic versatility by hitting Collier 50 yards downfield with a flanker pass. Ricky Jackson registered 17 tackles for the Panthers.

PITT 30, TENNESSEE 6

KNOXVILLE, TENN (Oct. 25)—In another fine all-around performance, the Panthers dominated the Vols and former Pitt mentor Johnny Majors, 30-6. Rick Trocano, starting his first game at quarterback in a year, was sharp, leading the offense to 489 total yards, 252 on the ground and 237 in the air. The defense played its usual outstanding game, harnessing the speedy Vols to 177 total yards—38 on the ground. Tennessee's lone score came on a dazzling kickoff return by Willie Gault after Dave Trout had kicked a 39-yard field goal to open the scoring. Joe McCall and Randy McMillan ran for touchdowns in the second quarter to put Pitt ahead 16-6 at halftime. Following a scoreless third quarter, Trocano turned a broken play into a 31-yard TD run, and McMillan steamrolled over the goal line to end the scoring. McCall, McMillan and Trocano rushed for 89, 83 and 76 yards respectively.

PITT 43, SYRACUSE 6

SYRACUSE, NY (Nov. 1)—Rick Trocano threw for three touchdowns and Randy McMillan exploded for 126 yards on 13 carries as the Panthers made their first visit to Syracuse's Carrier Dome a smashing success, squeezing the Orange, 43-6 before an ABC regional television audience. Orange Coach Frank Maloney pulled a surprise on the Panthers in the first quarter, going without a huddle, but the outmanned Orange were no match for Hugh Green on this day. Syracuse's all-time leading rusher, Joe Morris, was held to 16 yards on 12 carries. McMillan was the running hero of the day, breaking loose for TD runs of 39 and 45 yards in the second quarter. Dwight Collins caught two TD passes, from 46 and 8 yards out. For trivia buffs, the Pitt defense gave up its first rushing touchdown of the season, when quarterback Dave Warner scored from a yard out on the last play of the first half. The Pitt offense rolled up 500 total yards.

PITT 41, LOUISVILLE 23

PITTSBURGH, PA (Nov. 8)—The Pitt seniors made their final Pitt Stadium appearance a happy one, shooting down the Cardinals, 41-23 on a gray, overcast day. It wasn't easy, though, as the Cards took a 9-0 lead in the second quarter, following some shaky play by the Pitt offense. Julius Dawkins sparked Pitt's comeback, returning seven punts for 105 yards, to set up a Dave Trout field goal, and a TD pass of 27 yards from Trocano to Dwight Collins. Ricky Jackson smothered the Louisville punter deep in his own territory to set up a TD run by Joe McCall. Pitt scored three touchdowns in the third quarter on a six-yard run by McMillan, a two-yard plunge by Hawkins and a 67-yard Trocano to Collins bomb. During halftime ceremonies, Hugh Green's number "99" was retired. The only previous Panther to be so honored was Tony Dorsett, whose "33" was worn for the last time in 1976 (1977 Sugar Bowl).

PITT 45, ARMY 7

WEST POINT, NEW YORK (Nov. 15)—The Panthers scored four touchdowns in the first quarter en route to an easy 45-7 whipping of the Cadets, giving the Panthers a spot in the Gator Bowl. Pitt gained 578 total yards while setting a new school record of 436 yards through the air. Rick Trocano and Dan Marino combined to complete 31 of 54 passes. Pitt's scores came on a seven-yard pass from Trocano to Dwight Collins, a one-yard run by Wayne DiBartola, a seven-yard pass from Trocano to Willie Collier, and a two-yard plunge by Artrell Hawkins. Marino, making his first appearance since his injury in the West Virginia game, established a personal high by throwing for 292 yards, hitting Collier for a 16-yard score and Hawkins from 32 yards out to end the Panther scoring barrage. Ricky Jackson was named Sports Illustrated Defensive-Player-of-the-Week for his efforts against Army, which included a blocked punt and an interception. Both Pitt and Penn State were 9-1, waiting for the showdown at University Park in two weeks.

PITT 14, PENN STATE 9

UNIVERSITY PARK, PA (Nov. 28)—The Panther defense made the clutch plays time and again, to hold off the Nittany Lions, 14-9, and lay claim to their second consecutive Lambert Trophy, for Eastern football supremacy. The Lions scored first on a 27-yard field goal by Herb Menhardt in the first quarter, but the Panthers rallied, under the guidance of Rick Trocano, and the catching and running of Randy McMillan and Benjie Pryor. Mid way through the second quarter, Trocano hit McMillan with a screen pass, and Mac took it 32 yards to the Penn State 16. On the next play, Trocano rolled right, turned, and threw across the field to Pryor, who made a leaping catch in the end zone for Pitt's lead at 7-3. Curt Warner fumbled on the first play of the second half, and Tom Flynn recovered. The Lions were guilty of a personal foul on a field goal attempt by Dave Trout, and Trocano capitalized, bootlegging for a nine-yard touchdown. The Lions fought back, making the score 14-9 on a touchdown pass from Todd Blackledge to Kenny Jackson. Blackledge's pass for the two point conversion was too tall for Jackson, setting the stage for a titanic defensive struggle in the fourth quarter. On fourth and one from the Pitt 41, the Lions decided to go for it. Blackledge appeared to drop back, in order to roll out, but a blitzing Sal Sunseri forced him to make a hurried pitch to Curt Warner, who was smothered by Hugh Green and Lynn Thomas behind the line of scrimmage. With over one minute left in the game, Carlton Williamson made the play of the season, cleverly anticipating Blackledge's attempt to stop the clock, stepping in and making the interception to seal one of Pitt's sweetest wins ever against their toughest rival.

PITT 37, SOUTH CAROLINA 9

JACKSONVILLE, FLA (Dec. 29)—Pitt's seniors did themselves proud this cool evening in Jacksonville, dominating all phases of the game in beating South Carolina, 37-9. Heisman Trophy Winner George Rogers gained 113 yards on 27 carries, but was never really a factor. Rogers' fumble on the first play from scrimmage gave Pitt its first chance and Rick Trocano capitalized, scoring on a one-yard quarterback sneak. Dave Trout added a 36-yard field goal to put Pitt ahead, 10-0. Following a Gamecock field goal, Dan Marino entered the game and led the Panthers downfield against the clock, capping the drive with a three-yard TD pass to Willie Collier. The second half was all Randy McMillan, Ricky Jackson and the Pitt defense. Big Mac scored on a three-yard run, on a 42-yard screen pass from Trocano, and Dave Trout closed Pitt's scoring with a 29-yard field goal. Tailback Artrell Hawkins, a surprise starter, gained 50 yards on 9 carries, to help the Panthers register their second straight 11-1 season.

Game Notes: Illinois is the only team Pitt plays in 1981 that is a member of a conference . . . the Panthers have yet to defeat the Illini in six previous tries (0-6)—they last met in 1967 when the Panthers fell, 34-8 . . . they did engage in a brief home-and-home series between the years of 1943 and 1947 . . . this is the first in a brief two-year home-and-home series finishing up in 1982 . . . Pitt has scored more than one touchdown against Illinois only once . . . the September 5th opening game date is the earliest debut of Pitt football season in recent history . . . Pitt football teams don't have a history of success versus Big 10 opponents—being on the short end of a 13-49 series record against Big 10 opposition . . . their last Big 10 opponent was Northwestern in 1973 when Tony Dorsett first captured national attention as a frosh when he whisked for 265 yards . . . Pitt has won seven of its last eight season openers and is shooting for its fourth straight—a feat last accomplished from 1937-40 . . . the Panthers also bring in a seven game winning streak from the 1980 season . . . Pitt has won 22 of its last 24 games . . . if the Panthers' Dan Marino and Illinois Dave Wilson play (at press time Wilson's eligibility case was still pending), you can expect quite an aerial circus between two of the country's finer passing quarterbacks . . . before installing a sophisticated passing attack at Illinois, coach Mike White garnered the reputation for developing quarterbacks at California, like the late Joe Roth.

Game Notes: Pitt has never lost to Cincinnati and has shutout the Bearcats the last two times they've met . . . they last met in 1979 when the Panthers prevailed, 35-0, in one of the strangest homecoming games in recent history . . . the contest was played at 10:00 in the morning at Pitt Stadium in deference to a World Series game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Baltimore Orioles that was scheduled that afternoon at Three Rivers Stadium . . . the Panthers have averaged over 30 points per game against Cincy . . . The Bearcats return a whooping total of 44 lettermen including 17 starters from last year's 2-9 team . . . they've suffered through two consecutive 2-9 seasons going into the 1981 campaign . . . Cincinnati has the unenviable task of meeting both Penn State and Pitt on consecutive weekends . . . Pitt assistant head coach Foge Fazio coached at Cincy from 1973-76 and was defensive coordinator in 1976 when the Bearcats finished 11th in total defense . . . Cincinnati features not one, but two, former 1,000 yard rushers in former frosh All-America Allen Harvin and tailback James Bettis . . . Head Coach Mike Gottfried imported eight JC transfers this season to help turn things around . . . he walked out on a lifetime contract at Murray State to take the Cincy post . . . Cincinnati athletic director, Mike McGee was the head football coach at Duke when the Panthers steamrolled the Blue Devils in '76 on their way to a National Championship . . . Bearcat assistant Van Holloway played under Jackie Sherrill when Sherrill was an assistant at Iowa State . . . Cincinnati recruited frosh quarterback Shawn Morton from Bethel Park High School, the WPIAL runner-up in 1980.

Game Notes: In the only previous meeting between these two recent antagonists, Pitt swamped South Carolina, 37-9, in last year's Gator Bowl contest . . . in Pitt's first road contest of the season, they will also play their only night game of 1981 . . . the Panthers' only blemish last season occurred vs. Florida State in a night affair . . . the Gamecocks are 22-2-1 at Williams-Brice Stadium under Carlen . . . this is the Panthers' first visit to South Carolina for a football game and represents their furthest journey away from Pittsburgh for the season . . . Carlen is another head coach (Bobby Bowden of FSU being the other) who has extensive experience against the Panthers while serving as head coach at West Virginia . . . in a scheduling quirk South Carolina will have played four games prior to this meeting while Pitt will have only two games under its belt . . . Carlen ranks seventh in longevity among active coaches at Division I schools while directing South Carolina to its most wins ever in both 1979 and 1980 . . . he's one of the very few head coaches who have built winning programs from previous losers at three different schools (West Virginia, Texas Tech, and South Carolina) . . . the Gamecocks have to replace seven starters on offense and five on defense . . . they are one of the three 1980 regular season Top 20 teams that the Panthers meet in 1981 . . . of course, these two teams featured the top two Heisman finishers last year in George Rogers and Hugh Green . . . because of Rogers' graduation the Gamecocks will this year feature a triple option attack—quite a departure from the tailback oriented offense of 1980.

Game Notes: The Panthers have taken five consecutive contests from the Mountaineers, who, next to Penn State, are Pitt's oldest rival (1895) . . . the overall series now stands at 50-22-1 in Pitt's favor . . . in 1979 Pitt closed Old Mountaineer Field and now in 1981 it makes its first appearance at 'new' Mountaineer Field . . . in last year's 42-14 trouncing of West Virginia, Pitt fell behind early but put the game out of reach with 28 second quarter points . . . with 79 yards on 15 carries, Joe McCall had his most productive day as a Pitt frosh tailback . . . the last Mountaineer squad to defeat the Panthers was coached by Florida State's Bobby Bowden in 1975 . . . in their last appearance at West Virginia, Pitt set a single game attendance record at Old Mountaineer Field, but that record will easily be eclipsed with the expanded seating capacity of the present Mountaineer Field . . . former Michigan assistant Don Nehlen begins his second year at the West Virginia helm after guiding the squad to its first non-losing season since 1975 . . . he has 13 starters returning including one of the best quarterbacks Pitt will face all year in Oliver Luck . . . Luck has passed for over 3,000 yards in the last two seasons . . . but Nehlen must replace the team's two leading groundgainers and leading receiver from last year . . . Pitt assistant coach Joe Daniels is a former quarterback coach at West Virginia who tutored Oliver Luck as a freshman and sophomore . . . interestingly, West Virginia is the farthest west the Panthers travel for a regular season football game in 1981.

Game Notes: It should be a real grudge match when two of the nation's top independents clash at Pitt Stadium. Not only did they provide the only blemish on Pitt's record, but their 35 points was the most scored on a Panther team in five years . . . the Pitt-Florida State matchup is quickly developing into one of the best independent intra-sectional rivalries in the nation . . . this year it features the two most successful independents of the last two seasons . . . in 1980 after Pitt won the Gator Bowl and Florida State lost in the Orange Bowl, the Panthers captured the Number 2 final ranking that the Seminoles held much of the latter part of the season . . . this game also features two of the most successful coaches in college football today—Bobby Bowden has won 77% of his games at Florida State while Jackie Sherrill has triumphed 81% of the time at Pitt . . . Florida State holds a slight 3-2 edge in the series, but their last visit to Pitt Stadium in 1978 was a 7-3 loss . . . they last defeated Pitt in Pittsburgh in 1972 . . . while head coach at West Virginia his Mountaineer team was the last one to defeat the Panthers (1975) . . . in one murderous mid-season stretch the Seminoles play all five of their away games on consecutive weekends and also must face Nebraska, Ohio State, and Notre Dame, prior to their visit to Pitt Stadium . . . quipped Bowden, "When you lay your schedule on the table and the table tilts, you're in trouble." . . . only eight starters return from last season's Orange Bowl squad for FSU, including punter Rohn Stark, who almost single-handedly dug the Panthers' grave last season when he averaged 48 yards/kick . . . also quarterback Rick Stockstill who threw two TD aerials in the Pitt defeat . . also in that game Panther QB Dan Marino threw for 286 yards, the second highest total on the year by a Pitt quarterback and ninth highest single-game passing yardage total in Pitt history.

Game Notes: The Panthers hold a 21-13-2 series edge over the Orange, taking the last eight contests between these two Eastern rivals . . . Syracuse's last defeat of the Panthers came back in 1972 and the Orange haven't triumphed at Pitt Stadium since 1968 . . . their previous two encounters in 1980 and 1979 have been broadcast to a regional TV audience on ABC . . . last year's Pitt romp, 43-6, was arguably the Panthers finest performance of the season as they gained 500 yards in total offense and completely throttled the home team's attack . . . two Panther frosh had big games—flanker Dwight Collins caught 5 passes for 125 yards and tailback Joe McCall had one of his best efforts of the season with 70 yards . . . after surrendering 149 yards to Syracuse all-time leading rusher Joe Morris in 1978, Pitt has held this scatback to 92 yards in 1979 and an amazing 16 yards on 12 carries last year . . . the Pitt-Syracuse series has been a continuous one since 1955 . . . the Orange must play their two biggest eastern rivals, Penn State and Pitt, back-to-back . . . new head coach Dick MacPherson, who was named Syracuse's 25th head coach last December, has both collegiate (University of Massachusetts) and professional (Denver & Cleveland) coaching experience . . . he built UMass into a Division. I-AA football power . . . after a 5-6 year in 1980 he inherits eight returning starters on offense and eight on defense amongst the 38 returning lettermen . . . MacPherson hopes to bring Syracuse football back into their former national prominence when they had 22-straight non-losing seasons between 1950 and 1971 . . . since that time they've only had three winning years . . . placekicker Gary Anderson hasn't missed an extra-point in his previous two seasons . . . in 1980 Syracuse was 1-3 away from the Carrier Dome.

Game Notes: With last season's 14-6 triumph, the Panthers have now won seven consecutive contests with the Eagles . . . BC's last win came at Boston College in 1971 . . . Pitt holds a 8-2 series edge . . . last year's game at Pitt Stadium was broadcast regionally by ABC-TV and the audience saw a jittery Panther offense lose the ball seven times on fumbles and interceptions . . . it also saw Pitt's two starting flankers go down for the year with injuries—forcing Sherrill to switch to a young frosh who hadn't played that position in high school . . . the freshman, Dwight Collins, went on to prove himself one of the top freshman receivers in the country last season . . . Dan Marino recorded a Pitt season high in the contest by completing 23 passes . . . Jack Bicknell is the Eagles' second head coach in the last four years succeeding Ed Chlebek . . . included among the 39 returning lettermen are linebacker Jim Budness, probably the finest linebacker in BC history, and halfback Shelby Gamble, a former ECAC-Rookie-of-the-Year who gained over 700 yards last season . . . observers also felt that defensive tackle Junior Poles had one of the finest games by any defensive lineman against Pitt . . . Pitt and BC are not scheduled to meet again in either 1982 or 1983.

Game Notes: Pitt and Rutgers have never met on the gridiron before this season, but are scheduled for a brief two-year home-and-home series in 1981 and 1982 . . . the Pitt game is one of two games Rutgers is scheduled to play at Giants Stadium . . . the Panthers have played at the Meadowlands once before against Army in 1977 when they blitzed the Cadets, 52-26 . . . the Scarlet Knights face Alabama and Pitt back-to-back, but are scheduled for an off-week in-between . . . six offensive starters and five defensive regulars return from last year's 7-4 squad . . . Coach Frank Burns claims the 17 1980 seniors that graduated were, ". . . the best group of seniors we've ever had." . . . in his ninth season at the helm, Burns' squads have averaged eight wins a year . . . the 1981 Rutgers squad is a family affair of sorts with two sets of twins and one set of brothers . . . Rutgers and Princeton were participants in the first college football game ever played back in 1869.

Game Notes: The Panthers' 45-7 trouncing of Army last season was their most lopsided victory of the year . . . that win was Pitt's seventh consecutive one over the Cadets and they lead the overall series 16-6-2 . . . Army's last win was in 1971 at Michie Stadium and their last win at Pitt Stadium was in 1968 . . . in last season's contest Pitt gained a season high 578 yards in total offense while setting a school record of 436 yards through the air . . . Dan Marino threw for 292 yards—his personal high last season and the 8th highest single-game total by a Pitt QB . . . Flanker Dwight Collins also used the occasion to break the Pitt single season record for TD receptions in one season—latching onto his 10th . . . Pitt has averaged over 500 yards in total offense against the Cadets in their last two meetings . . . it was against Army in 1975 that Pitt set its all-time team record for total yardage by piling up 610 total yards . . . in their last six meetings the Panthers have averaged over 43 points per contest . . . for four consecutive years Pitt has accepted a bowl bid just after defeating an Army team and again with the way the game is scheduled in 1981 it just could happen again . . . three years ago at Pitt Stadium they accepted a Tangerine Bowl invitation after swamping the Cadets, 35-17, at Pitt Stadium . . . unlike many of their matchups with Eastern opponents Pitt shares only two common opponents with Army—Boston College and Rutgers . . . among the 35 returning lettermen for the Cadets are seven starters on offense and seven on defense . . . halfback Gerald Walker was the only back to gain over 100 yards against the Panthers last fall and also recorded the longest run from scrimmage versus Pitt with an 85-yard TD scamper . . . in fact, the whole starting backfield from 1980 is back to give Army better offensive potential than it's had in recent years . . . the Cadets haven't had a winning season since 1977 . . . probable starting middle linebacker Dan Kessler hails from nearby Greensburg, Pa.

Game Notes: In a series that commenced in 1938 the Panthers hold a healthy 8-1-1 edge over the Owls . . . the 1981 game will be their eighth consecutive meeting and, although Pitt has averaged 37 points per game over that span, more often than not Temple has given Pitt fits . . . the Panthers have actually had to come from behind to win the last three games . . . in last year's contest Temple got on the board first with a safety before Pitt scored 36 unanswered points . . . in Pitt's last visit to Veterans Stadium, Sherrill's squad needed a field goal in the last three minutes to prevail 10-9 . . . Temple is one of 10 independents on Pitt's 1981 schedule and one of six Eastern independents . . . the Owls haven't scored more than two TDs against the Panther defense in the last six years . . . Pitt and Temple meet no less than five common opponents in '81 including Penn State, Syracuse, Cincinnati, West Virginia, and Rutgers . . . Wayne Hardin has the most wins (71) of any coach in Temple football history . . . the Owls face 1980's number one ranked team (Georgia), number two ranked team (Pitt), and number eight ranked team (Penn State) . . . the '81 Owl squad should be a young one dominated by sophomores . . . Pitt is Temple's final game of the year . . . in last year's contest Pitt QB Dan Marino threw for 150 yards in the first half alone before twisting his knee and giving way to a re-emerging Rick Trocano who played both defensive back and quarterback that day for the first time.

Game Notes: The Panthers have taken the last two contests between these Eastern football giants, and another Pitt win would mark the first time since 1944-46 that Pitt will have defeated Penn State three consecutive times . . . these two independent football powers have skirmished on football playing fields since 1893, and have met continuously since 1935 . . . Penn State is Pitt's oldest rival . . . after an uphill climb for the better part of a decade the Panthers can tie the overall series at 39 games apiece with a win this season . . . the series shifts back to Pitt Stadium this year after three consecutive games at Beaver Stadium . . . in their last appearance in Pittsburgh the Nittany Lions bounced the Panthers in 1977, 15-13, in a driving November snowstorm . . . Pitt last defeated Penn State at Pitt Stadium in 1965 . . . the game has traditionally attracted a national ABC audience and, if televised again this season, it will mark the eighth straight year . . . in a typical defensive slugfest in frigid November weather, the Panther defense rose to the occasion to thwart the Penn State attack and allow Pitt to escape with a 14-9 win last year . . . safety Carlton Williamson stole a Todd Blackledge pass intended to be thrown out of bounds to stop the clock, to seal the Panther win in the waning moments . . . from last season's number eight-ranked team five starters return on offense and six on defense . . . the Nittany Lions boast All-America candidates in offensive guard Sean Farrell, tailback Curt Warner, and defensive end Larry Kubin . . . Kubin withdrew his name from the pro football draft after an early season injury cut short his year, to claim a redshirt and return for the '81 year.

Panthers on Radio and TV

Pitt football will be beamed this Fall via both radio and television throughout Pennsylvania and across the East Coast.

RADIO: A professional, first-class two-man broadcasting team will call all of the action for the Pitt football radio network, originating from flagship station WTAE (1250) in Pittsburgh. The popular "Voice-of-the-Panthers" Bill Hillgrove, sports director of WTAE-TV in Pittsburgh, begins his eighth year as football play-by-play man. Hillgrove will again be joined by nationally known TV analyst, John Sauer, beginning his eighth year also. Hillgrove and Sauer team together to give Pitt one of the best college football broadcasting teams in the country. The games will be aired on an expanded network of over 30 stations across three states.

Also on radio this Fall, WTAE will continue the popular "Panther Hotline." This will give the Panthers a solid five hours of Pitt football coverage from 1:00 PM to 6:00 PM on gamedays. The coverage will begin with the pre-game show at 1:00 PM, and following the game, continue with the "Panther Hotline" post-game show, hosted by Bob Kopler and Johnny Sauer. "Panther Hotline" will include live locker room comments from players and coaches, a review session with Coach Jackie Sherrill, live reports from Pitt opponents across the country, college scoreboard update and a listener call-in portion.

TELEVISION: A new and expanded Pitt football show was introduced last season, and with great enthusiasm, will be continued this year. Panther Pride '81 will be beamed, reaching potentially a nation-wide audience through the use of a national cable system. The half-hour show will be produced and marketed by TPC Communications Inc. of Pittsburgh, a rapidly expanding company considered by many to be the best independent production house in America. The show will be produced by Executive Producer Richard L. Clouser, and Producer Doug Kennedy. It will be a fast-paced half hour of game highlights, player profiles, player game comments, Jackie Sherrill insights and comments, and University documentaries. Flagship station for the show will be WTAE-TV in Pittsburgh which will carry the broadcast 12-12:30 PM Sundays.

At press time the following TV stations had signed to carry Panther Pride '81 this fall:

Pittsburgh, WTAE (ABC)
Philadelphia, WPHL (Ind.)
Altoona/Johnstown, WTAJ (CBS)
Scranton/Wilkes-Barre, WDAU (CBS)
Harrisburg, WHTM (ABC)
Erie, WICU (NBC)
Akron/Cleveland, WAKR (ABC)
Baltimore, WBFF (Ind.)

Panther Pride will also again be televised nationally via USA Cable TV Network.

Ninety-One Years of Panthers

Pitt football got off to a humble beginning back in 1890. Only three games were played that year and the record read a modest 1-2.

A winning record wasn't recorded until 1900, a decade later, and from then on, things began steamrolling for the Panthers.

In 1904 the Panthers, led by Joe Thompson of World War I fame, registered an undefeated 10-0 record, the School's first spotless mark. Thompson took over as coach after graduation and in 1910 the team produced an undefeated (9-0), untied, and unscored upon season. Under Joe Duff, brother of the former U.S. Senator, the Panthers lost only once in 1914 and set the stage for the legendary Glenn Scobey 'Pop' Warner in 1915.

Under Warner, the Panthers were 59-11-4 from 1915 to 1923. During this time the Panthers put together some formidable winning streaks. Warner's teams won their first 31 consecutive games, until W & J beat Pitt 13-10 in 1919. Counting the last two wins in 1914, the Panthers undefeated streak lasted 33 games.

In 1916, the Pitt team came up with an innovation for which millions of football fans have since given thanks. In addition to being undefeated, the Panthers were the first team to wear uniform numbers.

During Warner's tenure, Pitt's first All-America appeared. Bob Peck reached that status in 1914 and again in 1915 and 1916 to become a three-time All-America. Peck was rated one of the great all-time performers at center. Halfback Tom Davies and tackle Leonard Hilty (both 1918) were two other stars of that era.

Famous then, and more famous later, were a big Scotch guard/end and 1917 team captain, Jock Sutherland; Dr. H. C. Carlson, who went on to coach basketball at Pitt for 31 years; and Tiny Thornhill, who went to coach Stanford's Rose Bowl teams.

Following Warner, Sutherland began a 15-year regime in 1924. It began slowly, but ended with the Panthers ensconced among the mighty.

Sutherland recorded an incredible 111-20-12 record, including National Championships in 1929, 1931, 1934, 1936, and 1937. Coupled with Warner's three National Championships (1915, 1916, and 1918), the Panthers had won eight National Titles in 47 years. Pitt didn't add another title until 1976, to give the School a total of nine and place them 5th among all schools in NCAA history. These feats deeply entrench the Panthers as a truly great all-time college power. Sutherland's tenure also included four Rose Bowl trips, winning the 1937 game over Washington.

As should be expected with this kind of winning football, many performers won individual All-America acclamation: Ralph Chase, tackle, 1925; Gibby Welch, halfback, 1927; Mike Betto, tackle, 1928; Ray Montgomery, guard and Joe Donchess, end, 1929; Jess Quatse, tackle, 1931; Warren Heller, halfback, 1932; Joe Skladany, end, 1933; Doc Hartwig, guard, and George Shotwell, center, 1934; Averell Daniell, tackle, 1935; Marshall Goldberg, halfback, and Tony Matisi, tackle, 1937; and Goldberg and Bill Daddio, end, in 1938 all received All-America recognition during this period.

Sutherland left in 1938 and with his departure the Pitt program didn't have another winning season for a decade. Of course, during that time World War II took a bit out of everyone's program. After the War, however, it didn't take the Panthers long to get back in the winning swing of things. Mike Milligan turned in a winning record, the first in ten years, in 1948 and again in 1949. Milligan resigned in 1950 and he was replaced by Len Casanova who also departed the following summer. In 1951 Athletic Director Tom Hamilton took over in 1952. Ill health caused Dawson to step down in 1954 where Tom Hamilton took over once again for the remainder of the season. Hamilton handed the job to John Micheloson in 1955. Hamilton and Micheloson steered the team toward a winning direction. The 1955 season brought a 7-3 record and Sugar Bowl invitation (the Panthers dropped a close 7-0 game to Georgia Tech). The Gator Bowl followed in 1956 after a 7-2-1 season, but the Panthers hovered around the .500 mark until 1962.

During this stretch in history, numerous other Pitt Panthers attained All-America status. Ralph Fife, 1941; Bernie Barkouski, 1949; Joe Schmidt, 1952, all were touted as guards. Eldred Kraemer, tackle, 1952; Joe Walton, end, 1956; John Guzik, guard, 1958; and Mike Ditka at end in 1960 were also All-Americas.

Then came 1963. The Panthers finished with a 9-1 record and were ranked third in the country. Paul Martha and Ernie Borghetti won first team All-America rating during this memorable year.

After losing seasons in 1964 and 1965, Michelosen was replaced by Dave Hart in 1966. Hart undertook an extensive recruiting campaign and quickly gained the reputation as one of the finest recruiters in Pitt history. Unfortunately, the squads didn't perform well on the field, and he resigned after three years and a 3-27 record.

He was replaced in 1969 by former Pitt player and assistant coach, Carl DePasqua. In four years, DePasqua brought the Panthers respectability but was unable to establish a winner. He was released after a 1-10 record in 1972, giving him an overall mark of 13-29.

The losing trend caused the University to take a close look at its football program and a number of improvements were instituted. One of the country's brightest young football coaches, Johnny Majors, was hired and the program took an immediate upturn. In his first season, Majors took Pitt to its first winning season in ten years (6-4-1) and its first Bowl appearance (Fiesta Bowl) in 17 seasons. Majors improved that mark to 7-4 and a second place ranking in the East in his second year. Gary Burley, middle guard, won first-team All-America touting. In 1975 Pitt finished 8-4, went to the Sun Bowl, and was nationally ranked 13th by UPI.

This three-year growth served to set the stage for the 1976 season. The Panthers completed perhaps one of the most dramatic turnarounds in college football history in 1976—from 1-10 in 1972 to 12-0 and a National Championship in 1976. Tony Dorsett won the Heisman Trophy and first team All-America selection for the third year. Middle guard Al Romano won honors for the first time. Other Panthers (Jim Corbett, tight end; Tom Brzoza, guard, Jimbo Cramer, linebacker; Bob Jury; safety; and Carson Long, kicker) made second and third team All-America in 1976. Majors was named Coach-of-the-Year for the second time (1973) and the Panthers received just about every trophy available designating Eastern and National supremacy. Not since 1937 had the Panthers been able to call themselves Unanimous National Champion.

After Pitt's 27-3 win in the Sugar Bowl, Jackie Sherrill replaced Majors as coach. Majors opted to return to his alma mater, Tennessee. Sherrill, who was a Majors' assistant at Pitt for three years and was instrumental as an architect in the Pitt rebuilding job, left after the 1975 season to coach Washington State for a year (3-8) and readily returned to Pitt when the offer was made. He found himself in the strange role of inheriting a team coming off the National Championship.

But, in a pressure-packed atmosphere, Sherrill came through. He sustained the lofty heights that the Pitt program had reached. The Panthers were ranked 7th and 8th on the polls, registered a 9-2-1 record, and beat Clemson 34-3 to cop the Gator Bowl Championship. The Panthers had four first-team All-Americas (Randy Holloway, Matt Cavanaugh, Bob Jury and Tom Brzoza), which was the most by any team in the country.

In addition, eight Pitt gridders were chosen in the NFL draft—tied with Notre Dame for the highest number of any college team.

With such heavy losses by graduation, Sherrill had a rebuilding job to do. And it was a young team in 1978 that registered an 8-4 record and accepted a Tangerine Bowl bid (Losing to North Carolina State 30-17). The bowl trip was the fourth consecutive by a Pitt team and the fifth in six years. Hugh Green and Gordon Jones were selected first team All-America.

In 1979, Sherrill's Panthers came through again, posting an 11-1 record and a Gator Bowl win. The team was ranked sixth in the country and helped Coach Jackie Sherrill win "Eastern Coach-of-the-Year" honors and boost his three-year record to 28-7-1, making him the winningest three-year coach in Pitt history.

The 1980 Panthers, led by Maxwell Trophy and Lombardi Trophy winner Hugh Green, stormed up another 11-1 season, followed by a 37-9 trouncing of South Carolina in the Gator Bowl. Offensive tackle Mark May won the coveted Outland Trophy, and by season's end, both wire services had Pitt ranked second in the nation, while the New York Times selected Pitt as the best college football team in the country. Four Panthers earned All-America honors (Hugh Green, Mark May, Benjie Pryor and Ricky Jackson).

To cap off the 1980 season, Coach Jackie Sherrill won the "Eastern Coach-of-the-Year" award for the second consecutive season, upped his four-year record to an incredible 39-8-1, and had 12 players drafted by the pro's (six others signed as free agents) more than any other team in the nation.

Sherrill's 1981 squad returns 38 lettermen, including 7 starter from 1980, to give the 92nd season of Pitt football an optimistic base to build on.

All-America Roster

The following names are taken from the NCAA Guide and consists of players who were first team selections on one or more of the All-America teams of the last 65 years selected for the national audience and which receive nation-wide circulation such as the teams of Walter Camp, Grantland Rice, Casper Whitney, INS, AP, UPI, NANA, NEA, the Football Writers, the Football Coaches Association, the All-America Board, Newsweek, and Sporting News.

Pitt Hall of Fame Awardees

Thus far the University of Pittsburgh has had nine players, one coach and one player-coach elected to the National Hall of Fame. Jock Sutherland, a great guard from 1914 through 1917 and Pitt's brilliantly successful coach from 1924 through 1938, was elected in 1953, being among the first coaches named.

In 1954 Bob Peck, Pitt's first All-American (center in 1915 and 1916), was elected as the first Pitt player to have his name placed on the honor roll.

In 1958, Marshall Goldberg, an All-American halfback in 1937 and an All-American fullback in 1938, was elected.

In 1965, George McLaren, an All-America fullback in 1917 and 1918, was elected.

In 1967, Herb Stein, an All-America center in 1921, was elected.

In 1970, Tom Davies, an All-America halfback in 1918 and 1920, was elected.

In 1971, Joe Thompson, outstanding player-coach from 1904-1912, was elected.

In 1973, Hube Wagner, brilliant end and running back from 1910-1913, and Herb McCracken, back and lineman from 1918-20, were elected.

In 1975, Averell Daniell, All-America tackle in 1936, and Joe Skladany, All-America end in 1932 and 1933, were elected.

In 1979, Joe Donchess, All-America end in 1929, was elected.

Jock Sutherland

Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland was a great player and coach at Pitt.

Entering Pitt within a few years after he left his native Scotland, he was a regular guard on the great Pitt teams of 1914-1917—teams that lost but one game during the entire period.

Upon graduation, with a dental degree in 1918, he went into the service, coached the Camp Greenleaf Team with the AEF, then came back to the coaching job at Lafayette. Four years later, in 1924, he replaced Pop Warner at Pitt, and after getting the foundation laid, put the Panthers back into the first line again.

There were national titles in 1927, 1929, 1936 and 1937; Eastern honors in 1925, 1927, 1929, 1931, 1932, 1934, 1936, and 1937. Rose Bowl appearances in 1928, 1930 and 1933, climaxed with a win in 1937. All-Americans were turned out with regularity during this period.

Leaving Pitt in 1939, he coached Brooklyn in 1940 and 1941, then went into the Navy. Upon his return he took over the Pittsburgh Steelers, giving them their greatest day until recent history. He died unexpectedly in the Spring of 1948.

Bob Peck

Bob Peck was Pitt's initial first team All-America, being selected by Walter Camp in 1915 and 1916. In both of these years Pitt was undefeated, and in his sophomore year, 1914, the Panthers lost only one game.

He was captain of the 1916 Pitt team that is rated among the greatest of all time, both at Pitt and in the nation. Playing under Pop Warner, Pitt's coach during his last two years, he was a terrific roving center of the old variety, and an accurate passing center who could lead the speedy Pitt backs on the famous single and double wing attack which Warner was then perfecting.

After his graduation he moved to Culver Military Academy where he was athletic director and head coach until his unexpected death in 1934.

Marshall Goldberg

Marshall Goldberg came to Pitt from Elkins, West Virginia, and for the three years of his varsity career was the most highly publicized and popular back in Pitt history until Tony Dorsett came along.

These three years, coincidental with Jock Sutherland's last three as Pitt's head coach, saw the Panthers win a national title, a Rose Bowl game, and two eastern championships.

In two years as the regular left halfback Goldberg was the leading scorer and leading ground gainer, and then, moving to fullback with the famous Dream Backfield of 1938, he became a terrific blocker and power back, despite his relative lack of weight (185). He was a defensive expert during his three years and starred at this phase when he went into pro ball.

On campus he was a member of Phi Epsilon Pi, national social fraternity, and ODK, national honorary leadership society.

Upon graduation he played pro ball and was in the insurance business in Chicago, served nearly four years as a line officer in the Navy, and then finished his pro career with the Chicago Cardinals when they won their first title. He is owner of Marshall Goldberg Machine Tools, Ltd., of Rosemont, IL.

George McLaren

George McLaren, who came to Pitt from Peabody High School, is considered the greatest fullback in the school's history.

He played four years, 1915-1918, and during this period, the Panthers compiled a 29-0 record. McLaren was captain of the 1918 team. McLaren scored 13 touchdowns in 1917 and also holds the one-season rushing mark by a Pitt fullback with 782 yards. He also holds the longest run from scrimmage, 92 yards in 1917. He was never stopped without making a gain during his intercollegiate career.

McLaren also was a member of the basketball team for two years and a performer on the track squad for two campaigns. He was elected a Varsity Letterman of Distinction.

McLaren resided in the Baltimore area before his death in 1965.

Herb Stein

Herb Stein came to Pitt from Warren, Ohio, and for four years was one of the greatest offensive and defensive centers in Panther history.

A member of the great "Pop" Warner teams in 1918-21, he was named as a first-team All-American in 1921. During his four years, Pitt won 21, lost five and tied four. His brother, Russ, was also an All-American tackle at Washington & Jefferson.

Tom Davies

A two-time All-American halfback, Tom Davies ranks as one of Pitt's greatest backs. After prepping at Kiski, Davies entered Pitt in 1918 and was named on the last Walter Camp's All-America team as a freshman under Glenn Scobie (Pop) Warner. Davies was a regular for four seasons and was again named All-America in 1920. He holds three Pitt punt return records and ranks second in the all-time total yards gained department with 3,931 yards.

Following graduation from Pitt, Tom spent 25 years as a coach at Penn, Geneva, Allegheny, Rochester, Kiski, Scranton and Western Reserve.

Davies died five years ago.

Joe Thompson

The late Joe Thompson, outstanding player-coach at Pitt from 1904-1912, was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1971. A native of Beaver Falls, Pa., Thompson came to Pitt in 1904 (after attending Geneva) and led the Panthers to their first undefeated season. In compiling a 10-0 record, Pitt gave up only five points to opponents. He captained the team in 1905 and in his three years the Panthers achieved an excellent 26-6 mark.

After taking over the coaching chores in 1908, Thompson compiled a four-year record of 30-14-2. His 1910 team was not only undefeated (9-0) but also unscored upon.

Hube Wagner

Hube Wagner came to Pitt from Monaca High School in 1910 and immediately became a member of the great Panther team which went undefeated, untied and unscored upon. While primarily an end, he filled in at every other position except quarterback because of his great versatility.

When old timers talk of all-time Pitt greats Wagner's name always comes early in the conversations. Competing against such opponents as Notre Dame, Penn State, the famous Carlisle Indians, Navy, Cornell, West Virginia, Bucknell, etc., he was sensational because of wild tackling and his powerful ball carrying. He never, however, made the Walter Camp All-America team because that famous selector did not see Pitt play until 1915.

He became an outstanding surgeon and for 12 years was a member of the University Board of Trustees. He was also elected a Varsity Letterman of Distinction.

Wagner died in 1979.

Herb McCracken

Herb McCracken, a native of Sewickley, was one of the most versatile and also one of the lightest football players in Pitt history. He made up in football instinct and desire for any lack of size, and those same attributes made him a successful coach.

He was a varsity player under Pop Warner from 1918-20, participating at halfback, fullback, guard, end and center. He also played three years of basketball, captaining the team his senior year.

He went on to achieve outstanding coaching records at Allegheny College and Lafayette. Herb left coaching in 1935 to co-found Scholastic Magazine, Inc. He has served as a trustee of both Pitt and Lafayette. He is a Varsity Letterman of Distinction.

Joe Donchess

Last fall, Dr. Joseph C. Donchess became the 11th former Pitt football player to be inducted (posthumously) into the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

A standout end for Coach Jock Sutherland from 1927-29, Joe was an integral cog on a team that went 23-4-2 during his career. In 1929, when the Panthers went 9-1 and won the the National Championship, Donchess was voted first-team All-America. Giving additional credence to his prowess, Joe is a member of Pitt's All-Time Team (1910-1978).

After his undergraduate days at Pitt, Joe attended the Pitt School of Medicine and became a doctor in 1932. While attending medical school, he also coached the Pitt football team from 1930-32. He coached the ends for Dartmouth from 1933-37 while doing graduate work in their school of medicine. After Dartmouth, he began a successful career as an orthopaedic surgeon.

A pillar of the community, Donchess belonged to numerous professional organizations, including the American College of Surgeons. He was a member of the Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce and was the Chief Surgeon for United States Steel at Gary, Indiana.

He was a member of Phi Delta Theta, Nu Sigma Nu, and the Druids at Pitt, and his name is on the OKD walk. Donchess was a big contributor to the University for over 30 years and from 1960-62 was the Chairman of the Pitt Annual Giving Fund.

During his career, he wrote numerous articles for medical publications.

In recognition of his very special contributions, the Pitt football training room—inside Gate 3 at Pitt Stadium—was dedicated in his memory.

He died just over three years ago.

Ave Daniell

Averell Daniell, a member of the football team from 1934-36, captained the 1936 Pitt Rose Bowl championship team and was a consensus All-America standout on the line that was regarded as the best forward wall in Pitt history.

He then went on to play professionally with the Green Bay Packers. Following that he was a line coach at Dartmouth and at West Point before entering the Navy in WWII.

Following the War, he entered business and worked his way up to Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Alloy Manufacturing Company, a supplier to the Navy's nuclear propulsion program. That company later merged with Ionics, Inc., and Daniell now serves as its President.

A graduate of Mt. Lebanon High School, Ave majored in business administration at Pitt. He has been very active in the recent resurgence of Pitt athletics, and served as President of the Pitt Golden Panthers in 1974.

Joe Skladany

Joe Skladany was credited with helping Jock Sutherland build a great winning tradition at Pitt and earned first team All-America honors in 1933 and 1934. He played both offensive and defensive end.

At 205 pounds, Skladany played the strong side on the Panthers' unbalanced offensive line and anchored the defensive line from his defensive end position. With Joe leading the way, the 1933 defense allowed a mere two touchdowns en route to an 8-1 record. During his stay at Pitt, the Panthers posted a 24-3-2 record.

Skladany was elected to the Pioneer Division of the Hall of Fame, the section reserved for athletes who starred before 1934.

Following his college career, Skladany went on to become principal owner of the Pittsburgh Paperback Corporation. Prior to his death, Joe was quite active in Pittsburgh's community affairs.

(The All-Time Team was originally picked in 1958. In 1968 it was updated by a special panel headed by then Sports Editor of the Pittsburgh Press, Chet Smith. In the summer of 1979, the team was updated again by a special panel of Pittsburgh sportswriters, broadcasters and knowledgeable Pitt football followers. Naturally there will be arguments but that's expected. The last year the player performed is in parentheses.)

Pitt Ranks 6th in National Championships

Elusive. Cantankerous. Agonizing. Dreadful. Wonderful. These are all adjectives used to describe that holiest of grails in college football — the search for No. 1.

To settle countless arguments Sports Illustrated in 1970 researched the first and only complete and wholly accurate list ever compiled of college football's mythical national champions. Every recognized authority that ever presumed to name a No. 1 is included. They include Parke H. Davis Ratings (1889-1935), the Helms Athletic Foundation (1889-1970), the Dickinson System (1924-1940), the Illustrated Football Annual (1924-1941), The Football Thesaurus (1927-1958), the Dunkel System (1929-1970), the Litkenhous System (1934-1970), the Williamson System (1932-1963), the Associated Press (1936-1970), the United Press International (1950-1970), the Football Writers Association of America (1954-1970), and the National Football Hall of Fame (1959-1970).

In all of college football, only 42 different schools have claimed a national championship, and only 28 have managed to win two national titles. As shown below, the University of Pittsburgh is 6th to properly rank as one of the nation's all-time great football names.

Glenn "Pop" Warner
(1915-23)

Glenn Scobey "Pop" Warner is considered by many as one of the legendary fathers of the early football era. While at Pitt from 1915-23, "Pop" Warner compiled an impressive 59-11-4 overall record. In 1917 the Panthers went undefeated and untied.

Jock Sutherland
(1924-38)

Dr. John Bain "Jock" Sutherland played under Pop Warner on one of the greatest teams in Pitt football history. Sutherland became the winningest head coach in Pitt history with 111 victories in all. His teams won the National Championship in 1927, 29, 36 and 37 and Eastern titles in 1925, 27, 29, 31, 32, 34, 36 and 37. His overall coaching record was an amazing 111-20-12.

Charles W. Bowser
(1939-42)

Charles W. Bowser was a product of Jock Sutherland. A discontinuation of scholarships during World War II had bearing on Bowser's squads from 1939-42. Team captains were not even selected during those War years. Bowser compiled an overall 14-20-1 record.

Walter Milligan
(1947-49)

Walter S. Milligan turned around a poor seasonal record in 1947 of 1-8, to revitalize the Panthers with 6-3 record in '48 and '49. The Ohio State game of 1949 is one of the most memorable in Panther history when Pitt fumbled a kick return late in the game allowing the Buckeyes to take a 14-10 edge. Milligan finished his tenure was 13-14 overall record.

Tom Hamilton
(1951-1954)

Tom Hamilton acquired the nickname "Captain" from his days as Captain in the Navy. Hamilton served as both head football coach and athletic director at Pitt for a number of years of both combined and separate duties. He filled in for Red Dawson during mid-season when Dawson became ill in 1954. His record overall was 3-7; the season of Dawson's illness was 4-5.

Red Dawson
(1952-54)

Lowell P. "Red" Dawson coached the Buffalo Bills of the AFL and served as an assistant at Michigan State before coming to Pitt. As head coach of the Panthers, Dawson excelled in football recruiting. Captain Hamilton had to fill in for Red in 1954 when he became ill. His overall record was 9-12-6.

Dave Hart
(1966-1968)

Hart's overall record (3-27) certainly did not reflect the positive contributions he made to the Pitt athletic scene. An excellent recruiter and administrator, most of Hart's assistant coaches have gone on to successful coaching careers, and Hart, himself, has become an outstanding collegiate administrator.

Carl DePasqua
(1969-72)

Carl A. DePasqua led the Panther squad from 1969-72. During that period, Pitt pulled out of the Big Four Agreement that had limited the Panthers, WVU, Penn State and Syracuse to 100 men on each team. DePasqua was also an outstanding fullback at Pitt and played in the Blue-Gray game in 1949. His overall coaching record was 13-29.

John Majors (1973-76)

Majors is commonly known as the architect of the modern Pitt football renaissance. Under Majors, the Panthers played in the Fiesta Bowl (1973), the Sun Bowl (1975) and won the National Championship in the Sugar Bowl against Georgia in 1976. Pitt's only Heisman Trophy winner, Tony Dorsett, played under Majors. Majors left Pitt with an overall record of 33-13-1.

Jackie Sherrill
(1977-present)

Jackie Sherrill has quickly become one of the winningest coaches in Pitt football history. He has taken his Panthers to four straight bowl games including the Gator in 1977 and 1980, the Tangerine in 1978 and the Fiesta in 1979. His current record is 39-8-1 at Pitt and 42-16-1 overall.

PANTHERS IN THE PROS

The Panther Football Program got another feather in its cap this past spring when 12 Panther seniors were drafted in the Professional Football Draft. These twelve included three first round picks. Another seven Panthers signed as free agents.

Last season, fourteen former Pitt players remained on professional football rosters throughout the season.

With the addition of the twelve draft picks and seven free agents, that number is sure to increase. No one will know until summer professional camp is over, exactly how many Panthers will be in the pros in 1981.

The University of Pittsburgh

The Cathedral of Learning

Just about 200 years ago, both the City of Pittsburgh and the University of Pittsburgh were in a state of infancy. Through the years, they have simultaneously grown tall; together, hand in hand they have been dependent upon, and complementary to each other.

That's quite a relationship the city and the university have nurtured in their respective developments.

Take note. The University of Pittsburgh was first chartered in 1787 as Pittsburgh Academy. Less than 50 enrollees comprised the student body. In 1789, Pittsburgh's official population was listed at less than 500.

Today, Pittsburgh houses controlling interests of over $30 billion in assets. Of the top 500 corporate headquarters in the country, Pittsburgh is home to 14—ranking third nationally behind only New York and Chicago. Of the top 1,000 corporate headquarters in the land, Pittsburgh houses 25.

Pittsburgh is the hub around which the economy of the northeast quadrant of the United States revolves. Geographically, Pittsburgh is 370 miles from New York, 454 miles from Chicago, 220 miles from Buffalo, 125 miles from Cleveland and 231 miles from Washington, D.C. Pittsburgh is also the 10th largest media outlet center in the country.

As the city evolved to its present stature, so did the university. In fact, the university played a vital role in that evolvement. With industry hungering for qualified personnel to fill its needs, the University fed, and continues to feed, thousands upon thousands of technical and professional degrees into its blood stream. Pitt has championed the city academically from the very beginning.

Today, employers continue to call on Pitt graduates for professional services—medicine, dentistry, nursing, legal counseling, and business. The Pitt diploma continues to be recognized, respected . . . and called upon.

The University of Pittsburgh has kept step with the city. Recently, Pitt reached an academic milestone, being elected a member of the Association of American Universities—an elite group of just over 50 universities. Pitt can be proud of this distinction, because it has met the major requirement for selection—academic excellence.

In 1819 Pittsburgh Academy became Western University of Pennsylvania, a one-building structure on Third Avenue and Cherry Street, Downtown.

In March 1921, Chancellor John G. Bowman told banker Richard B. Mellon, "The Cathedral of Learning is not a commonplace idea. But what is the future of Pittsburgh if it is to grow with commonplace ideas and commonplace loyalties?"

Mellon bought the thought and financed the building of the Cathedral of Learning, a 42-story Gothic skyscraper which serves as the centerpiece of the University's physical makeup.

In 1926, Bowman announced the building plan that today is The Cathedral of Learning.

"We want a building that is symbolic of education's higher aspirations—one that has eternal reach for both education and the entire community," Bowman proclaimed.

The Cathedral of Learning remains unique today, towering against the graceful Oakland skyline. It has fulfilled the prophecy Bowman first set forth back in 1926.

Philip Johnson, perhaps the most celebrated of contemporary architects, is centering the city's Renaissance II movement around the Gothic style of the Cathedral of Learning. Johnson calls the Cathedral "the greatest neo-Gothic structure in the country."

He is using the same medieval guild-house architectural flavor of the Cathedral in the building of the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass center in Downtown Pittsburgh.

All along, Pitt has perpetuated a long and illustrious sports tradition, too. Pitt ranks sixth in National football championships won—according to Sports Illustrated—with nine. It has placed many feathers in the city's sports cap through the years, feeding fuel to the city's front-running sports image. It has provided city sports fans with top-notch college football teams.

But the University of Pittsburgh is an 'institute of higher learning' first, and undergraduates can take an active interest in varied fields of study. Pitt even has a self-designed major for specialization areas. Post-graduates and practicing professionals find a wealth of avenues to pursue higher quality education. The Health Professions schools—medical, dental, and pharmacy—are world-renowned. The law department ranks among the nation's best.

The University also serves as the city's cultural center. Within a 15-minute radius of the University there are six museums and art galleries, ten hospitals, and over a dozen other colleges and universities, not to mention one of the finest symphony orchestras in the country.

In a countryside setting of rolling hills, picturesque valleys, rivers and streams, both the City of Pittsburgh and the University of Pittsburgh continue to thrive as big-time institutions.

Dr. Wesley W. Posvar, Chancellor

WESLEY POSVAR

When Dr. Posvar was named Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh in June, 1967, the University already boasted a treasured academic and athletic tradition.

In his fourteen years as Chancellor, Dr. Posvar has further enhanced the University's national and international reputation—both academically and athletically.

In the same symbolic manner in which the Cathedral of Learning stands tall against the graceful Oakland skyline, Pitt excels as an athletic power. In 1976, the Pitt football team won the National Championship becoming the sixth all-time leader in National Collegiate Football Championships. Attesting to its academic excellence the University is a member of the Association of American Universities (AAU), a select organization of the nation's most respected graduate and research universities. Both of these achievements underscore the University's continuing quest for excellence in both academics and athletics.

A former college athlete who believes a strong athletic program should complement a high quality academic experience, Dr. Posvar has earned the reputation as "Pitt's #1 Sports Fan."

Born in Topeka, Kansas, Dr. Posvar is an engineering graduate of the United States Military Academy in West Point, graduating first in his class. A Rhodes Scholar at Oxford, he earned Masters Degrees in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics. At Harvard, he received an M.A. in Public Administration, and a Ph.D. in Political Science. He was named one of the Ten Most Outstanding Young Men by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Posvar served on the strategic planning staff at the Pentagon, and was head of the 120-man social sciences division at the United States Air Force Academy before his appointment as Chancellor.

Dr. Posvar has also accumulated several athletic awards, among them "Sportsman of the Year" by the Allegheny County Civic Sportsmen Association, and was the recipient of the Contribution to Amateur Athletics Award by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

His wife sings professionally as Mildred Miller, a mezzo-soprano who is internationally acclaimed as a recording artist and Leider singer. An active civic leader, she is the founder and Artistic Director of the Pittsburgh Chamber Opera Theater—the touring and educational adjunct of the Pittsburgh Opera.

The Posvars have three children: Wesley, Jr., Marina and Lisa.

Casimir J. Myslinski, Director of Athletics

CASIMIR MYSLINSKI

Since he was named Director of Athletics by Chancellor Posvar in 1968, Cas Myslinski has thoroughly and at times spectacularly, restructured the University of Pittsburgh's Athletic Department.

Forceful, yet quiet, Myslinski has sparkled as the administrative man behind the scene, setting the policy and choosing the priorities that have led to the dramatic athletic turnaround. He promised to bring the Pitt athletic teams back to "the heights they deserve" when he was hired, and the winning figures say he has fulfilled that pledge.

Panther athletic teams have recorded twelve consecutive winning years since Myslinski's arrival.

The winning has been highlighted by seven football bowl trips, a football national championship, three basketball tournament teams and 54 All-Americas.

Myslinski has also been a leader in implementing a dynamic women's program at the University, which continues to be one of the fastest growing and most successful in the nation. In seven years, the women have won over 70 per cent of their competition.

One of his first achievements as Director of Athletics was uniting several contributing bodies to the athletic program into one, founding the now thriving Pitt Golden Panthers Booster Club. The Club raised over $600,000 this past year.

After an accelerated three-year high school curriculum, he entered West Point in September of 1941 as part of the last pre-World War II class. He again undertook an accelerated academic program because of the war and in that stepped-up program graduated in three years with a B.S. in engineering. He also earned pilot wings. Later he received a Masters in Education from Teachers College, Columbia University.

At West Point, he distinguished himself on the football field. He captained the 1943 Army team and was voted the Most Valuable Player that year. He was named to every first team All-America Squad at center and garnered the Knute Rockne Award as the Nation's Outstanding Lineman.

Following West Point graduation in 1944 he entered the Air Force.

In 1952 he returned to West Point as Deputy Head of the Department of Physical Education and moved from there in 1956 to head the Department of Physical Education at the United States Air Force Academy and to be an assistant football coach under Buck Shaw (1957).

Then Dr. Posvar summoned him to Pitt.

Married, he and his wife, Sandy, have four children: Linda (Mrs. John Baginski), Michael (wife—Loraine Sujdak), Dorothy (Mrs. Brian Gracey), and Patricia (Mrs. George Jacoby). Patricia is the mother of the three Myslinski grandchildren, Brandon, Brooke, and Kimberly.

The Pitt Golden Panthers are the outside financial supporters of Pitt's Athletic Programs. The primary objective of the Pitt Golden Panthers is to help Pitt sustain prominence in athletics. During the short span of nine years, the Golden Panther Organization has grown from a handful of members to approximately 5,000 to date. The Pitt Golden Panthers have contributed over $2 Million to the program during this time.

In addition to raising funds for Athletics, the Pitt Golden Panthers also promote Pitt throughout the area by selling ads, creating chapters within the State of Pennsylvania—we now have 13 chapters—help with recruiting, season ticket sales, and in general, promoting the University of Pittsburgh.

All contributors to the Golden Panthers receive donor credit in the University's Annual Giving Fund and its various giving clubs.

Panther Support Staff

Alex Kramer

Administrative Assistant

Alex Kramer

As Administrative Assistant, Alex Kramer coordinates activities between Head Coach Jackie Sherrill and the Athletic Director's office.

Alex and his family have always been big Pitt fans, even though Alex was born and raised on the Bluff, when Duquesne was a national power in the 1930's. Alex recalls his father taking him to the B&O Railroad Station to meet the 1937 National Championship team after its 10-0 win over Duke.

At the University of Pittsburgh, Kramer was a football manager from 1948-51 and during hs tenure, he served four different coaches: Mike Milligan, John Chikerneo, Len Casanova and Captain Hamilton. He was manager of the 1950 freshmen team, a team that was the first frosh team to go undefeated.

As an undergraduate at Pitt, Alex roomed with Joe Schmidt, the former Panther great and pro football coach.

Alex joined the Pitt staff in July of 1978 to serve as Administrative Assistant for Coach Jackie Sherrill. This topped a long-time association in which Alex was active in alumni and Golden Panthers affairs.

"Alex has given our staff plenty of flexibility and his administrative capabilities have eased my load," said Coach Jackie Sherrill. "He's been an outstanding administrator for 17 years. Alex is probably the most loyal and dedicated person working at Pitt. He has Pitt in his blood and his ties with people connected with the program are phenomenal."

Prior to joining the Pitt staff, Alex was director of curriculum in the Moon Area School Distict. He had been with the Moon Area Schools since 1956.

Personal Information: Date of Birth: 7/8/29. Hometown: Pittsburgh, PA. Alma Mater: Pitt '52-M.A. at Pitt '61. Married to the former Betty McCormick and father of Charles (23) and Michele (19).

Kevin Dickey

Kevin Dickey

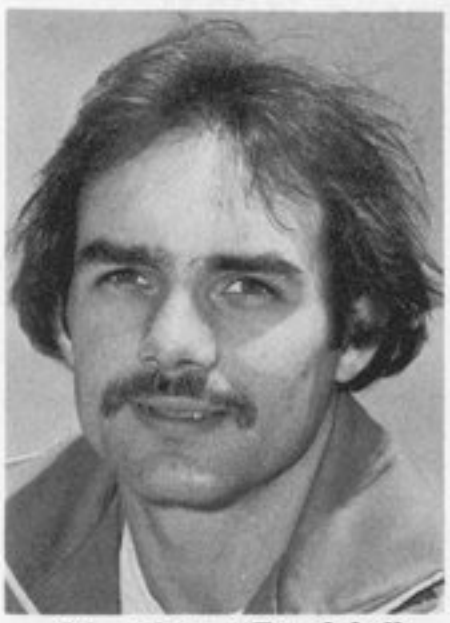
Recruiting Coordinator

Kevin Dickey coordinates all recruiting for the Pitt athletic department. Kevin came to Pitt five years ago as a part-time assistant coach. He really impressed the Pitt staff; he could be seen paying his dues in the film room, burning the midnight oil there often.

Kevin was a fine quarterback at the College of Wooster, where he was a three-year letterman. Now, seven years removed from the college classroom, Dickey has already held various positions at Pitt. He has been both an offensive and defensive football coach, film coach, pro-scout liaison, and most recently, coordinates the recruiting for the entire Panther program.

Coach Jackie Sherrill said: "In his three years here, Kevin has worked extremely hard. It has paid off for our program. He has a bright future in college football. If hard work is any indication, he will continue to do very well."

Coaching Experience: HIGH SCHOOL—Steubenville Big Red 1975-76, Offensive Coordinator. COLLEGE—Bowling Green State, 1974, Backs and Quarterbacks; Pitt 1977, Part-Time Assistant. Administrative Experience: Pitt, 1978 to present, Coordinator of Recruiting. Personal Information: Date of Birth: 10/8/51. Hometown: Ottawa, Ohio. Alma Mater: College of Wooster, 1974.



Charles "Buddy" Morris

Charles "Buddy" Morris

Weight Training Coordinator

Charles "Buddy" Morris begins his second year on the Pitt staff as Weight Training Coordinator. Morris has established and implemented a strength, flexibility and conditioning program for Pitt athletes.

A native of Pittsburgh, Morris attended South Park High School before receiving a track scholarship at Indiana State (Terre Haute) but left there and came to Pitt after his freshman season. He was a member of the Panther track squad under Coach Mike Agostinella. He is a 1980 graduate of Pitt.

No stranger to the Pitt weight room, Morris has worked with Bob Jury, Jeff Delaney, and CMU's Gusty Sunseri, helping them develop strength and speed.

Morris has found that the key to motivating the players to work hard is working along side of them.

"You have to look the part to sell the product," he said. "It takes hard work and a lot of time to develop your body properly. Occasional lifting doesn't work for the players' benefit. You have to be consistent."

Personal Information: Hometown: South Park, PA. Alma Mater: Pitt '80. Married to the former Pitt high jumper Karen Krichko.

Pitt Stadium-Home of the Panthers

Not until 1925 did Pitt football teams have a home to call their own.

Prior to that, Pitt teams played football at Forbes Field, old home of the Pittsburgh Pirates, from 1909-1924. The newly-completed Forbes Quadrangle (which houses several departments and classrooms), bordered by Roberto Clemente Drive, now stands on the old Forbes Field site.

From 1890 to 1908, the Pirates played at various ballparks, but mostly old Exposition Park on the North Side, in the general vicinity of Three Rivers Stadium.

In 1925 Pitt Stadium was dedicated and the football teams have called it home ever since. With a present seating capacity of 56,500, Pitt Stadium is generally considered one of the finest spectator-viewing stadiums in the East. Every seat in the oval-shaped structure is a good one for football.

The structure has basically remained the same over the years, but many adjustments have been made that make Pitt Stadium one of the truly complete college sports complexes around.

The interior of the 54-year-old bowl is painted bright blue and gold, contrasting with the dark green Astro-Turf playing surface and the red-brick colored 440-yard all-weather Tartan track. The Stadium sports a new Astro-Turf surface, installed in the summer of 1977. The original Astro-Turf surface was put in in 1969.

The Stadium became a more efficient and more attractive edifice in 1978. First, a new coaching office complex was opened. The two-floor office, reception, conference room and workout area now houses the entire football staff.

In addition, a brand new, spacious and more efficient Ticket Office Headquarters was opened at Gate 1 last year. More offices are planned for the Stadium in the future.

Vast improvement on the seating was also completed last summer with a comprehensive two-year program to completely refurbish the seating. Adding greatly to the comfort of the fan, the old seats were removed, the concrete base was touched up and sealed and new aluminum seats were installed. Half of the Stadium was completed after the 1977 season and the other half was done in 1979.

Opened in 1925 at a cost of $2,125,000, the Stadium originally seated 67,000. Various seats were removed to provide better access. The present capacity is 56,500. The Stadium plant itself encompasses 10 acres with an outer circumference of one-half mile. The Stadium also houses the band, the track team and a general reception area.

The first game at the Stadium was played in 1925 when Pitt defeated Washington & Lee 28-0. During the next four seasons, the Panthers played 30 of their 34 games there.

The single game attendance record was set in 1938, when 68,918 fans jammed every corner of the Stadium to see Pitt beat Fordham 24-13. The interest was at a peak for that game since the two teams had played to consecutive scoreless ties the three previous years.

In 1977, 287,867 fans saw the Panthers play in six games. That total is the highest for a single season. The average per game attendance record was set in 1978, however, in five home encounters when an average of 49,472 fans attended.

STADIUM ANNOUNCER ROGER HUSTON

Roger Huston

Roger Huston has been calling the action for the fans in the Pitt stands since the 1976 National Championship season. He is also the Field House announcer for Pitt Basketball, but is best known as the track announcer at The Meadows Race Track.

Huston came to Pennsylvania from Pompano Beach, Florida in 1976 to work as the Meadows announcer. He has called harness racing's most prestigious events such as the Little Brown Jug at Delaware, Ohio and the Hambeltonian Trotting Classic for NBC television.

Huston has handled play-by-play for football, basketball and baseball. A graduate of Wilmington College, Huston has always worked in the announcing field. He is a native of Xenia, Ohio.

The 1981 Pitt Cheerleaders

The 1981 Pitt Cheerleaders show promise of being one of the finest squads in recent years. A host of new faces brings a new dimension in skills and activities to the field this year, to carry on the Pitt tradition of excellence.

The squad is once again coached by Karen Agostinella. She will be assisted this season by former Pitt cheerleading captain Penny Campbell.

In addition to their regular home game appearances, the Pitt cheerleaders will travel to South Carolina, Rutgers, West Virginia and Temple, this season.

Each year the Pitt Cheerleaders travel extensively to support Pitt football by exciting and entertaining the crowd.

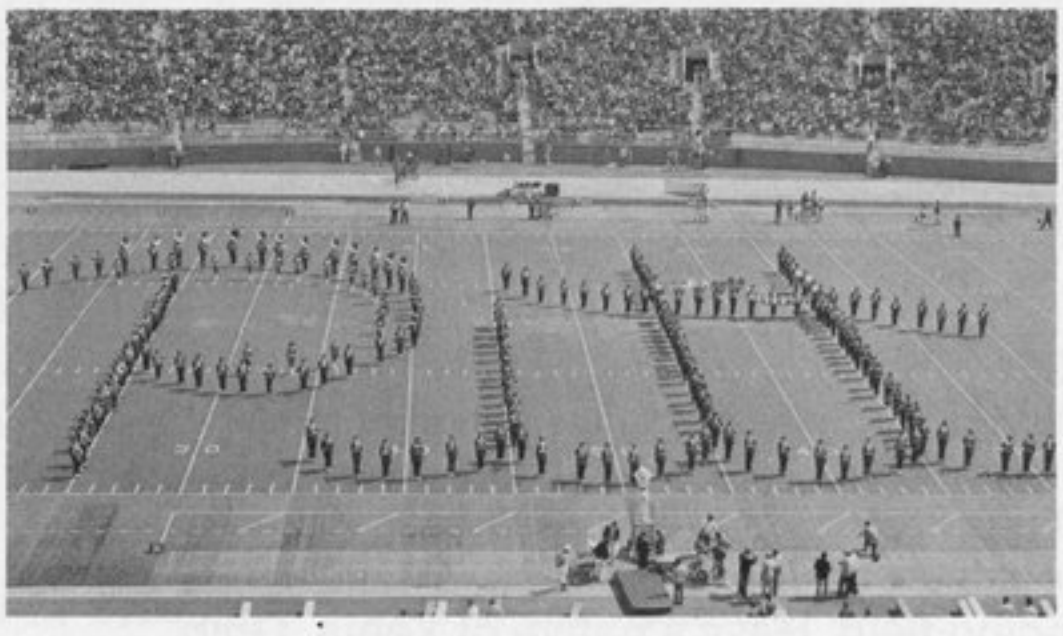
Karen Agostinella

Head Cheerleading Coach

Karen Agostinella begins her seventh year as head coach of the Pitt cheerleading squad. In the past six years, Mrs. Agostinella had gained a national reputation and is highly respected for her fine work in the development of collegiate cheerleading. A graduate of Slippery Rock State College, Karen is a physical education instructor in a suburban Pittsburgh school district. A native of Hopewell, PA, Karen and her husband Mike (the Pitt men's track coach), share their home with a very large basset hound named Katy.

The Pitt Panther Marching Band



Composed of 192 instrumentalists and 16 Golden Girls, the Pitt Band is considered among the finest marching bands in the country and serves as a vital tool for generating fan enthusiasm at sporting events. Its musical quality, marching expertise and imaginative football half-time shows are reasons which have led to the Band's national recognition.

A hard working crew that travels with the football team at least twice a year, the Band has also traveled to five of Pitt's last six bowl games. On December 26, 1975, the Band performed at the Sun Bowl; on January 1, 1977, it performed at the Sugar Bowl with Chuck Mangione and Pete Fountain; on December 31, 1977 and December 29, 1980 it performed at the Gator Bowl; and on December 24, 1978 it worked with Anita Bryant at the Tangerine Bowl.

Other musical organizations in the Division of University Bands include the Concert Band, Wind Ensemble and the Solid Gold jazz-rock band.

The band staff includes: Director of Bands Donald E. Hower, Associate Director of Bands Vincent A. Biancucci, Music Arranger Joe Campus and Choreographer Larry Cervi.

Donald E. Hower

Director of Bands

A native Pennsylvanian, Donald Hower holds degrees from Ohio State and Temple University. Prior to coming to Pitt, he was the assistant director of the Ohio State University Marching Band and also taught trombone at Ohio State. During the fall, Hower directs the marching and concert bands, as well as taking care of all administrative work for the band program. During the winter months, he directs the concert and "Solid Gold" jazz bands, as well as visiting local schools to carry on an extensive recruiting campaign on behalf of the University Bands. Hower has served as a clinician, adjudicator and private instructor in the Tri-State area. He is married to the former Kathleen Hollinger—the Howers have two daughters: Genevieve (4) and Jessica (1).

Pitt Scoreboard Keeps You Entertained and Informed

Since 1978, Pitt fans have been entertained and informed by a modern animated scoreboard in the south endzone of the stadium.

The two men who design and then program the unique displays that appear during the games are Ron Morris and Rick Roth, of Information and Systems Research, Inc. (ISR), a Coraopolis-based company which is recognized as one of the country's foremost manufacturers of program generators ("programs that write programs," says Roth) and other software development tools.

ISR also markets a mini-computer based financial control and management system for local governments, locally listing the Townships of Upper St. Clair and O'Hara among its many clients.

Roth earned an undergraduate degree (1974) and Morris a graduate degree (1975) from Pitt.

The actual computer used to operate the scoreboard is a 32KW (memory size) PDP 11/03 central processing unit (CPU), which is manufactured by the Digital Equipment Corporation (DEC) of Maynard, MA.

The scoreboard itself consists of a row by 120 column matrix of light bulbs. It principally runs on the same basis as your home television. The on/off pattern of lights is controlled by the software programs written by Morris and Roth, who are located in the pressbox computer room.

Most programs are created prior to gametime, but occasionally, they are written and tested during the game, prior to display on the board itself.

Morris and Roth are always working on new ideas and animations for the Panther games and spend generally 6-10 hours of preparation time for each game.

The Pitt scoreboard is sponsored by Equibank and Westinghouse.

The Pitt Sports Information Staff

Dean Billick, sports information director at the University of Pittsburgh since 1966, was promoted this past spring. In his role of Associate Director of Athletics for Public Affairs, Billick will be directly responsible for supervising and coordinating the areas of sports information, promotions/marketing, Pitt Golden Panthers, band and cheerleaders.

The members of the sports information staff have absorbed many of Billick's former duties and will be responsible for the coverage of Pitt's 19 men's and women's sports teams.

Joyce Aschenbrenner

Joyce Aschenbrenner

Football Sports Information Director

Joyce Aschenbrenner began her eighth year on the Pitt staff last spring.

She attended West Virginia University School of Journalism, and as an undergraduate, worked as a student assistant in the WVU Sports Information Office under SID Dick Polen. Joyce joined the Pitt staff in 1974 as assistant SID for women's sports, moved to men's sports two years ago, and this past summer was assigned to football. She will assist in the coverage of men's basketball this winter, when her football duties are completed.

Joyce has covered six football bowl games and the NIT with the Panthers, and served as publicity director for the 1979 AIAW National Swimming and Diving Championships and Eastern Championships in basketball, swimming and diving, gymnastics, volleyball and track and field. She has won four CoSIDA awards including "Best in the Nation" for the 1977 Pitt Women's Brochure, and the 1980 Pitt Football Program Covers.

Joyce is a native of Brentwood.

Linda Venzon

Linda Venzon

Non-Revenue Sports Information Director

Linda Venzon begins her second year on the Pitt Sports Information staff.

A 1980 Pitt graduate, Linda worked as a student intern under Dean Billick for one full year before gaining experience at the Pittsburgh Pirates' public relations department.

Linda's duties have been expanded this year and she will handle all public relations needs for Pitt's 17 men and women's non-revenue sports teams. Last season she served as women's sports information director and hosted regional championships in both women's gymnastics and swimming.

Linda is a native of Harrison City, PA.

Kim Smith

Kimball Smith

Promotions and Ticket Sales/Men's Basketball

Kimball Smith begins his fifth season as a member of the Pitt Sports Information Staff.

A 1975 graduate of Cornell University, Kim continued his education at the University of Massachusetts where he earned a master's degree in athletic administration in 1976. He worked in the sports information offices at both Cornell and U. Mass before coming to Pitt as a graduate intern in the fall of 1976. He was hired in his present capacity in the spring of 1977.

Kimball's duties include the coordination of promotions and ticket sales for both football and basketball along with the expanded duties of public relations for the Panther basketball squad this year.

Kim is married to the former Nancy Rees; they have a daughter, Kelly Jean (3).

Bea Schwartz

Beatrice Schwartz

Secretary/Editorial Assistant

Bea Schwartz has been with the Sports Information Office since the Spring of 1978. She is an 11-year employee of the University, previously working as a secretary in the philosophy department.

A native of Uniontown, Bea spent one year with the Microphone Playhouse, before joining the staff of WDAD-Radio in Indiana, PA as a copywriter. She also had a daily radio show. She moved on to WEDO-Radio in McKeesport before settling down to raise her family.

Bea has two sons—Dr. Alan Schwartz, of Phoenix, Arizona, who is the medical director of the emergency center of Phoenix Baptist Hospital, and Marchie, who is in the automobile business in Phoenix. Bea has two grandchildren, Danny and Britton.

MEDIA POLICIES FOR THE 1981 SEASON

PRESS BOX: Accommodations in the press box will be furnished to representatives of Pittsburgh district papers, metropolitan papers filing for Sunday editions, press services, Pittsburgh radio and TV sports commentators, media following the opposing team, and scouts from schools playing either Pitt or its opponents.

Those media members with season passes are please asked to confirm their attendance by Friday, noon, prior to Saturday's football game.

Requests should be made in writing to the Sports Information Director in advance. The press gate is Gate #11. Passes will be mailed on Monday prior to game-day.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Sideline passes will be issued to Pittsburgh papers, news services, daily papers normally covering the opposing team, and student publications of the two schools. Color-coded press stickers will be issued for each game and must be worn at all times. Photographers must stay behind the marked lines to the right and left of the bench area and may not enter the bench area.

An officer will be assigned to instruct photographers to stay within designated areas. Failure to comply with the officer will result in loss of photographers' privileges. Space on the photographers' deck is reserved for newspapers in the same manner as field passes and also for newsreel and game movie cameramen. This space must be requested in advance to insure adequate space.

Field photographers should enter Gate #3. Photographers covering from the stands should enter Gate #11.
